FEAR RECORDS OF WAR WON'T BE COMPLETE

Important Letters Written by Wilson Are Withheld from Publication

HISTORIANS LACK COPY

President Carried on Much Official Business in Personal Correspondence

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1926, Post Pub. Co.

Washington—Decision of the department of state to make public such files as it has covering the correspondence between the United States and foreign governments before and during the war has raised the question of how complete these records really will be.

For the truth is the innermost workings of American diplomacy, as well as the guiding influences that were at work in shaping American policy were written in memoranda of which copies never have been secured by the department. This is partly due to the fact that President Wilson carried on a personal correspondence with many ambassadors and ministers and that he dealt through Colonel House on many important matters. Mr. Wilson's letters to the Colonel which have a bearing on the records have never been made public because of an objection by Mrs. Wilson. Similarly, there have been rumors current lately that the editors of Colonel House's books have declined to surrender originals or copies of Mr. Wilson's letters for use in the Wilson biographies which are being prepared by Ray Stannard Baker.

As long as this controversy lasts between individuals who are interested in book publication for commercial purposes, the department of state will be without its complete set of records. Some day, it is hoped that all the individuals to whom Mr. Wilson wrote on matters of foreign policy will see the usefulness to the historian in depositing copies or originals with the department of state. This may take several years but not until that has been done will the official records which are about to be printed mean much to the student of history.

LACK DUPLICATE COPIES
Mr. Wilson wrote some of his communications on his own typewriter. It is supposed that he kept copies of most of them but the effort of the Wilson family to recover letters now in the possession of Colonel House is taken as proof that the war president did not retain copies of some of the most important documents bearing on American entrance into the world war.

Much of the diplomacy of the war was carried on orally. Many reports of conversations were made in personal letters. The biographers of Mr. Wilson have virtually all of these. They were carried away from the White House personal files by Mr. Wilson just as has been the personal correspondence of other presidents. There is no shadow of official, executive and confidential correspondence at the White House. In most administration the dominant factor in the making of foreign policy. Because Mr. Wilson was really his own secretary of state most of the time, the records of the war period largely were made by him. That is why the announcement that the forthcoming volumes to be published covering war correspondence will prove a disappointment to those who really hope to learn the motive for action taken in the name of the United States government beginning with 1914 and ending in 1920.

WON'T PROSECUTE MEXICAN BISHOP

Mexico City—(AP)—No formal charges are to be made against the most Rev. Mora Y. Del Rio Archbishop of Mexico, because of utterances made in a recent interview with an American newspaper correspondent in which he strongly upheld the standpoint of the Catholic church in its dispute with the Mexican government over the religious regulations.

After a conference between Attorney General Ortega and President Calles it was officially announced that the president had decided not to "consign" or make formal charges against the prelate.

Otherwise the religious situation Saturday remained as for days past—deadlocked.

PLAN AID FOR U. S. TEXTILES AND FARMERS

Hoover and Coolidge Discuss Benefits for Cotton and Cloth Industry

Paul Smiths, N. Y.—(AP)—Agriculture and the textile industry, particularly cotton, regarded by Secretary of Commerce Hoover as weak spots in the generally excellent business situation are receiving the close attention of the federal government which is working to bring them up to the general economic level.

Tentative plans for helping the farmer by endeavoring to coordinate the different agencies that extend credit to him are already being drafted and readjustments have already been in matter pertaining to cotton manufacturing which have resulted in distinct improvement in the industry during the last month it was said, officially at Mr. Hoover's conference with President Coolidge Friday.

Establishment of a chain of national highways for commercial flying, and the foreign trade situation, was discussed with the chief executive by Secretary Hoover.

Mr. Coolidge and Secretary Hoover it was learned did not discuss to any extent the possibilities of the development of commercial aviation. They were rather concerned with the immediate problems before the department of commerce of mapping out routes, licensing of pilots, providing landing fields and encouraging commercial flying.

CHINESE FORCES WIN IMPORTANT VICTORY

Peking—(AP)—Leaders of the allied forces of Marshals Wu Pei-fu and Chang Tso-Lin claimed Saturday that they had captured Hankow Pass, the key to the position of the Kuomintang or national army, at Kalgung; flags are being flown here in celebration.

Federal Agents Uncover Wisconsin's Largest Still

Alvin—(AP)—Federal agents working in this vicinity uncovered Wisconsin's largest illicit whiskey still Friday in a heavy woods near here, but no arrests were made. The still had a capacity of 680 gallons, and it is estimated that in an eight hour day could turn out 350 gallons of 153 proof alcohol.

The raiders crept upon the location and saw a man, believed to be one of the moonshiners making off through the woods. The still is said to be the sort used by Kentucky moonshiners and was destroyed by a charge of dynamite.

The moonshiners were the source of supply of a large amount of alcohol which has been used in the larger cities of the state authorities said. The product was a redistill of the original, and is said to be of good quality. Another raid was conducted near Cranston but only evidence of a hurried removal of a still was found.

The giant still was located in the heart of a swamp surrounded by a heavy growth of timber, and the raiders were forced to leave their automobiles and walk three miles to reach the secluded spot. The still was housed in a frame building.

EMPLOYEE AT LOCK SWEEP INTO CANAL

Iron Crank on Lock Knocks Locktender into Swirling Tailrace

Charles De Young, 68, 1050 E. John-st., a locktender at government lock No. 4, on the Fox river canal, was drowned about 10:15 Saturday morning when the iron crank which is used for opening and shutting the lock gates rebounded and struck him in the stomach, knocking him down the embankment on the east side of the lock into the tailrace of the Interlake Pulp and Paper company. A heroic attempt to save De Young was made by Captain Henry Lemke of the tug Oshkosh, a Cook and Brown Navigation company boat, which was in the locks at the time the accident occurred.

Captain Lemke jumped off the boat when he saw the accident, raced down the bank and jumped into the tailrace and succeeded in catching hold of De Young's clothing, but the current was too swift and he was forced to let go and save himself from drowning. He was assisted from the water by other members of the boat crew. De Young floated on top of the water for about 200 feet, and then sank from view. Every effort was made to locate him.

The body was found about 10:50 by Ray Younger, 1019 W. Elsie-st., Appleton, who was dragging the river with a pike pole. They brought the body to the surface and Jacob Kromer and Winton Lansing of the fire department immediately set to work with the pulmotor in an effort to resuscitate De Young. Their efforts were of no avail and death was pronounced about 15 minutes later by two doctors who had been summoned.

De Young received several bad bruises on his head when he struck stones at the bottom of the bank before falling into the tailrace. It was thought that either this or the blow in the stomach from the iron crank caused him to lose consciousness, and he is thought to have drowned without regaining his senses.

Mr. De Young had caused the gate of the lock and was stepping aside when the crank rebounded and struck him in the stomach. Joseph Hamand, 845 Fifth-st., Oshkosh, an employee on the boat, also witnessed the accident and called for help.

Chief George T. Prim, and officers Albert Deltgen, Alfred Dunn and Ed Thomas of the Appleton police department rushed to the scene at once.

Mr. De Young had been in the service of the government since March, 1894, and had the longest record of any employee of the government on the Fox river. He had been continually in charge of Lock No. 4 for 32 years.

He was born in S'herrenhoff, Province of New Zealand, Holland, in 1858, and came directly from Holland to Appleton in 1883. He was married in 1895 to Mary Louise Horkman.

He was a member of the Catholic Knights of Wisconsin, the Catholic Order of Foresters, the Holy Name society of St. Mary church and the Federal Employees' association. Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning from St. Mary church and interment will be made at St. Joseph cemetery.

Survivors are five daughters, Mrs. Herbert Knight, Misses Mary, Jane, Margaret and Dorothy and five grand-children all of Appleton and one sister, Barbara, of Holland.

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—General Lincoln C. Andrews chief of the prohibition forces, disclosed Saturday that he had perhaps gotten a little taste of liquor on his trip to London in the form of solids.

END MURDER CASE AGAINST SEATTLE MAN

Expect to Conclude Prosecution of Gaines on Charge of Killing Daughter

Seattle, Wn.—(AP)—The prosecution in what is locally the most discussed trial in Seattle's history—that of Wallace Gaines on a charge of murdering his 22 year old daughter, Sylvia, was expected to conclude its presentation of testimony Saturday.

A dozen witnesses have given evidence by which state seeks to prove that Gaines killed the girl when she threatened to expose improper affection said to have existed between them.

A surprise witness Friday was Harry R. Wurster an automobile mechanic. He told officials he wished to testify because his conscience bothered him.

Wurster testified that he saw with in a few minutes of the killing an automobile owned by the defendant not more than 50 yards from a lake shore grove of trees in which Sylvia's body was found. He repaired Gaines' machine six weeks before the playing and declared he would recognize it among a dozen other automobiles of the same make.

TESTIFY AGAINST GAINES
Louis Stern, a friend of the defendant testified Friday that Gaines came to his house about 9:30 June 16, the night of the killing. Sylvia was slain about 9 o'clock. Gaines was apparently excited, Stern said, and blurted out:

"Remember what I've always told you. That if I couldn't go and come like I wanted to and take a drink and take as many as I wanted to I'd kill 'em. That's just what happened."

Sylvia was a graduate of Smith college, Northampton, Mass.

Edwin D. Colvin, prosecutor of King-co, announced that if the jury acquits Gaines, charges of improper relations will be filed against him.

Stern testified that a month before the killing, he was painting a bedroom of the Gaines home. Sylvia came into the room he said and showed him marks on her arm which she said her father inflicted.

ELECTRIC FAN KILLS WORKER AT PAPER MILL

Defective Wire Sends 110 Volts of Electricity Through Workman's Body

Emil Wegenke, 36, 327 S. Badger-ava, was instantly killed at about 3:15 Friday afternoon, when a charge of electricity passed through his body in the engine room of the Fox River Paper Co.

Wegenke had taken a 220-volt electric desk fan, which was connected with a socket carrying 110 volts, and placed it on a damp floor in a pit at the factory, while he was at work on a condenser. The exact manner in which the electrocution occurred is unknown, but it is thought to have been caused by a short circuit in the wires of the fan, and by the intensifying shock which resulted when the fan came in contact with the wet surface.

A physician who was called at once by Wegenke's fellow employees declared that Wegenke had died instantly. Members of city fire department, responding to a telephone call, worked over the body with a pulmotor in an effort to restore respiration, but were unsuccessful.

The body was taken to Bretschneider's funeral parlors in a Kunitz ambulance, which had been called immediately. Mrs. Wegenke was notified of her husband's death by a member of the Appleton police department.

Mr. Wegenke is survived by his wife and six children, Melvin, Mildred, George, Delphine, Eunice and Arline; four brothers, Richard of Bud-sin, Edward and Rudolph of Wautoma, and Herman of Florida; and two sisters, Mrs. Henry Weekwerth of Wautoma and Mrs. George Kessler of Appleton; and the following step-brothers and step-sisters: Charles Sievert of Glen Rock, Adolph Sievert of North Dakota, and Mrs. L. M. Fisch of Montello.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at St. Matthews Lutheran church, and will be conducted by the Rev. A. C. Froehike. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery.

MAN INJURED HAND

Shortly before the electrocution in Wegenke's death, John L. Jabas, 50, 418 N. State-st., chief engineer in mill, No. 3, of the Fox River Paper Co., suffered a severe cut on his right hand when he put his hand in the cross-head and frame of an engine, in which the air compressor had broken a large plate. Several stitches were taken by a physician to close the wound, but the injury is reported as otherwise not serious.

COMMISSION SUSPENDS REDUCTION OF RATES

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—A reduction of six cents per hundred on grain freight rates from Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth and Superior, to seaboard points, proposed by the St. Paul and Sault Ste Marie railway company and the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad company was ordered suspended Saturday by the Interstate Commerce Commission from August 25 to Dec. 23.

Protests against the reduction were filed by a number of other grain-hauling roads and the commission decided that the proposed reduction should not be operative pending general hearings.

REAL ESTATE BOARD DENIES 4 LICENSES

Madison—(AP)—The Wisconsin real estate brokers board announced Saturday it had revoked the license of John Nagle, a real estate broker. It also denied the applications of Elmer Stillberg, Milwaukee; E. J. Oppinger, Forest Lake, Minn., and Louis Kreft, Forestville, for brokers licenses, and Thad B. Sytowski, Milwaukee, for a salesman's license, because they failed to appear for hearings.

QUESTIONED

The daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Mills, New Brunswick, N. J., choir singer, slain four years ago with the Rev. Edward W. Hall, here is on her way to be examined by state police who are carrying on a renewed investigation into the sensational murder mystery.

UNCOVER NEW EVIDENCE IN MURDER CASE

Discovery Involves Several Prominent Men in Slaying of Ohio Editor

Canton, O.—(AP)—Evidence sufficiently strong to convict several men of the murder of Don R. Mellett, publisher, has been uncovered by Joseph R. Roach, Chicago criminal lawyer, conducting an investigation into an alleged liquor conspiracy in Canton.

Roach declared that the evidence is "air tight" but that it has not been carried to the Starko grand jury through fear of general upheaval which might follow in Canton political circles.

Roach is not in a position to carry the case into the state courts because he is at present without state authority and is preparing the liquor conspiracy case for a federal grand jury investigation.

He said Saturday that he is ready and willing to go before the Starko grand jury when it convenes next week to tell what he knows of the murder plot. In his inquiry into the liquor conspiracy, Roach says he has discovered that the contemplated murder of Mellett was a matter of common knowledge in the underworld.

Before the assassination and just before there were many who knew just when it was to occur.

On evidence now in Roach's possession, he says, it appears that several members of the Canton police department are involved in the liquor conspiracy and that some of them had knowledge and even were implicated in the murder plot.

Bandits Rob Union Pacific Mail Car In Western State

Rawlins, Wyo.—(AP)—Two men early Saturday held up and robbed the mail car on the Union Pacific train No. 5, Chicago to Portland, Oregon, mail and express train between Rawlins and Wamsutter. The loss has not yet been determined by the railway mail authorities.

The men boarded the train at Rawlins, and while it was speeding west entered the mail coach, where at the point of revolvers, they bound the two mail clerks and then rifled several registered letter pouches.

Then, evidently by arrangement with confederates the semaphore signal at Wamsutter was changed so that the train slowed and the two robbers jumped off the mail coach value.

GET SMALL LOOT

Omaha, Neb.—(AP)—Bandits who Friday night held up and robbed a registered mail car attached to Union Pacific train No. 5 near Green River, Wyo., received a small loot, railway mail officials here believe. Although it will take some time before a complete check can be made railway mail officials explained that the train never carries much registered mail of value.

IN MURDER BY EYE WITNESS

Pig Woman Gives Damaging Testimony Against Widow, Her Brother and Cousin

UNCOVER POISON PLOT

Late Prosecutor's Brother, Produces Missing Documents of Former Trial

Someville, N. J.—(AP)—Two male relatives of Mrs. Edward Wheeler Hall have been pointed out in open court by a witness of four years ago as the men she saw with the widow at the slaying of the Rev. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

Henry Carpenter, Mrs. Hall's wealthy cousin, a Wall Street broker and Willie Stevens her mentally deficient brother were the men indicated by Mrs. Jane Gibson who said Carpenter had a shining object in his hand.

Another witness produced previously gathered evidence which had been reported missing. The slain woman's daughter told of an alleged attempt to poison her mother prior to the murder and a "mystery witness" said to be at the time of the murder within 75 feet of the crab apple tree where the bodies were found, entered the reported investigation.

William S. Staub, the new witness, was in jail Saturday held on $3,000 bail as a material witness. Carpenter and Stevens are also in jail.

Mrs. Hall, charged also with the murders, is free on $15,000 bail and William Phillips, former night watchman, is free on $2,500 bail.

The hearing which is adjourned until Monday revealed that the state rests its case chiefly on Mrs. Gibson's testimony. She related to county Judge Cleary's court, that on the night of Sept. 14, 1922, she was riding her mule in search of corn thieves when she came upon a group of men and women quarrelling about some letters. A pocket light was flashed upon the face of one of the men she declared.

INVOLVES TRIO

"Whose face did you see?" asked special prosecutor Alexander Simpson. "This here man" replied Mrs. Gibson pointing to Henry Carpenter.

She saw something shiny in his hand, hence a loud report rang. A woman screamed and another cried "Oh, Henry" Mrs. Gibson declared she lost a moccasin in her haste, and the moccasin she identified as hers, found nearby was introduced into the evidence. She heard three more shots. After she got over her fright she returned and saw Mrs. Hall kneeling or leaning over and crying.

She identified Stevens as a man she had seen with Mrs. Hall earlier in the glare of an automobile headlight. She said she did not know a murder had been committed until she read it in the Sunday newspaper.

Charlotte Mills, bobbed haired 20 year old daughter of the slain woman testified that her mother had tea with Mrs. Hall some time before the slaying and that afterwards she was very sick. She said a large book in the rector's study of the church, of St. John the Evangelist was used as a postoffice for the exchange of passionate letters between the clergyman and the sextons wife.

During the hearing Marcus Beekman, brother of the late Prosecutor Asahel Beekman, marched into the courtroom with the missing documents of the earlier investigation which the state has been seeking for weeks. He told an incoherent story of having found them a week ago among his dead brother's effects.

SMITH ATTACKS EKERN RECORD, VOLSTEAD LAW

Would Stop Campaign Now if Attorney General Would Open Books for Inspection

Denouncing "the men in office who attempt to serve two masters—the people and their own pocket—as a danger to good government," and declaring himself in unequivocal terms as opposed to the prohibition law as it now stands, W. Stanley Smith, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor at the September primary, spoke Friday evening at the armory here. Owing, probably to the fact that Mr. Smith decided to speak here on short notice, and that little publicity was given to his appearance, less than two hundred voters were present at the meeting.

Mr. Smith's platform, as he outlined it, includes a program of conservation of natural resources, protection of game and wild life, reforestation, opposition to lowering of lake levels, economy in spending state funds, advancement of education and agriculture, and "fewer laws, but more enforcement." He was introduced by Thomas Miller, who served with Mr. Smith in France during the world war.

SCORES EXPENDITURES

"At the same time Candidate Ekern might explain to an interested audience why, with lauded abilities as a lawyer and all the money he is going to save the tax-payers of Wisconsin, it was necessary, with all the legal assistants in his office, to spend between $60,000 and $70,000 to pay other lawyers for legal work for the attorney general's office for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926," Mr. Smith declared.

"Why was Attorney Theodore Kronshage, Jr., paid over $23,000? Senator Harry Southworth, attorney, also Mr. Ekern's chairman of the legislative investigating committee which presented such a fine exonerating report on 'serving two masters' at the last session of the legislature, is on the list for nearly $2,000; Senator M. N. Heck for $2,661; R. M. Rieser for $17,956. D. H. Grady, who has really given some good service in the St. Paul railroad case, gets only $5,000, but that may be only a payment on account."

"And then there are others, and some seem not to be on the list yet—Mrs. Lorenz, chairman of the 'appointed Progressive campaign' in Milwaukee—has seen so busy criticizing the temerity of those who do not meekly accept the dictum of the machine that he may not yet have found time to submit his bill for legal services. Sometimes it may not be necessary to pay out legal retainers for faithful workers—contractors' bonds for road construction with some have great allurements. For example, the chairman of the Milwaukee-co executive committee, working hand and glove with Lorenz, is the general agent of a surety company and he somehow manages to secure a large percentage of the surety bonds road contractors must furnish the state. Perhaps Wisconsin may sometime elect an attorney general patterned after the Texas attorney general, who will investigate these Wisconsin contractors and create the same kind of a 'Moody' feeling among some over-zealous progressives in this state."

SEEKS EXPLANATIONS

"Now if Candidate Ekern could find time to sandwich in a few explanations between his many promises for the millennium he is working, if he can only be elected, this campaign may still assume an educational character for the enlightenment of the tax-burdened voter."

"Millions of people are breaking the law by making their own liquors, wines and beer. The manufacture, even of home-brew, has been made a violation of the law. Unnumbered thousands are manufacturing it for sale. And millions of others are showing their contempt for the law by being customers who purchase and drink it. We must either submit and rigidly obey the law, or we must repeal the eighteenth amendment—and all recognize that difficulty—or secure such modification by amendment or repeal of the Volstead act, and permit the manufacture and sale of wine and beer and state supervised regulations, or calmly look on a continuance of a lawlessness that will inevitably lead on to further lawlessness," Mr. Smith maintained.

WISCONSIN WEATHER

Fair tonight and probably Sunday; not much change in temperature.
WEATHER CONDITIONS
A high pressure area is overspreading the northern states this morning and moving southeastward from the Canadian northwest. This is in position to dominate the weather condition in this section over the weekend, with generally fair weather and moderate temperatures. Showers are reported over widely scattered sections during the past 24 hours but they are mostly local in character. Extensive low pressure is developing in the intermountain regions but its influence will hardly be felt in this section for a couple of days at least.

GOOD ROADS AND LITTLE DUST ARE REPORTED HERE

Traffic Counts Indicate Volume of Tourists Is Not Increasing

Wet roads during the week usually mean exceptionally well-conditioned roads over the weekend. Sufficient rain fell this week in Wisconsin to insure absence of most of the dust experienced during long dry spells, and this fact will add much to the comfort of motorists on their Saturday and Sunday trips.

In Outagamie-co roads are at their best for this time of year, according to reports, many of the rough spots having been "ironed out" on dirt roads. The same condition holds true, to a large degree, throughout the state.

Traffic counts of the Outagamieco highway committee, taken on highway 15 about every two weeks during the summer months, indicate that the number of cars passing over this important trunk road is not increasing much when compared with similar counts of the last three years. This is encouraging, for it seems to offer proof that motorists are more and more availing themselves of the excellent county trunks and of dirt roads, which are not officially a part of the county or state system.

As is natural, the roads in the northern part of the state have not had the same painstaking attention as was given those of the central and southern sections, but they may be traveled without discomfort. Northern Wisconsin roads are practically clear of detours, which fact adds to their attraction. The few detours in existence in the north at present, however, are far more rough than those of the more densely populated sections.

Numerous detours have been eliminated throughout the state during the past month. Southwestern Wisconsin now has comparatively few. As was the case throughout the summer, detours are most numerous in the southeastern and south central parts of the state. They are centered about Columbus and Madison, according to the service map of the Wisconsin Highway commission.

Detours in the southern part of Wisconsin offer little trouble to motorists, however, apart from increasing the mileage and adding to the inconveniences of leaving the regular trails. They were constructed to bear a great amount of traffic.

BAR PROPERTY ON SPENCER-ST TO CARNIVALS

School Board Honors Complaints of Residents Living Near Show Grounds

The school property on W. Spencer-st., where two circuses and one carnival have given shows this year will no longer be available to any type of outdoor show, following action taken by the Appleton school board at the regular monthly meeting Friday evening in Lincoln school.

William Eggert, in introducing the motion barring shows from the school property, stated that he had recently received a number of complaints from people living in the vicinity of the annoyance caused by shows locating there. He also stated that the grounds were always left in a bad condition following a show, being cut and covered with refuse. The board voted unanimously to discontinue renting this land to shows of any type.

The land was purchased some years ago with the intention of building a kindergarten and primary school there in the future.

A resolution, introduced by T. H. Ryan, regarding renewing the school insurance was adopted. It has been the policy of the insurance companies who write school policies to rewrite them at the time of their expiration and send a bill to the board, according to Mr. Ryan. All companies are to be notified not to rewrite any school insurance unless they have received orders from the school board telling them to do so.

The question of teacher's compensation insurance was referred to the committee on education to decide whether the city would carry the insurance and pay the compensations or whether to give the insurance to some company. The chief reason for keeping the business would be that there is seldom a case where compensation must be paid, and by handling the policies locally, the annual dues are saved.

Another resolution, introduced by T. H. Ryan, concerning ordering of goods from local merchants, was unanimously adopted. After Sept. 1, no bills will be honored by the board unless each invoice bears the order number or the name of the person doing the purchasing. No orders will be accepted by merchants unless they are signed by Miss Carrie Morgan, assistant or Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of schools. In case of an emergency a school principal or a member of the school board may sign such orders.

Bills were allowed, repair work was passed and some ordering was done.

Mrs. Fannie Baker of London, Eng., has arrived in Appleton to visit Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baker. Charles C. Baker met Mrs. Baker at New York and returned with her. Mrs. Baker is a sister of W. T. Ross.

THE AMPICO

The charming little Quarter Grand embodying the Ampico—exactly suited to a room of modest size.

The Human Touch of the Ampico

WHEN you have heard a great pianist's recording on the Ampico you have heard the man himself.

Every delicate shading of tone quality, every blending of harmonies, every bit of expression and feeling is faithfully mirrored by the Ampico.

If you love music you have only to hear the Ampico to appreciate at once the sympathetic humanity of its performance. It re-enacts for you the playing of the greatest pianists—Dohnányi, Gordon, Le-vitzki, Lhévinne, Rachmaninoff, Rosenthal and scores of other famous artists with the very spirit of their genius in the interpretation.

The Ampico with its perfect touch can find no more fitting instrument than the Chickering, famed for a century for its artistic eloquence. For the Chickering has been the chosen piano of master musicians from the beginning—the immortal Liszt himself owned and loved a Chickering.

CIVIL SERVICE IN WISCONSIN MADE STANDARD

Salary Schedule and Specifications for Types of Employment Complete

Madison—(P)—Civil service in Wisconsin is standardized, after months of labor on the part of the persons who supervise the state employees.

The salary schedule and specifications for the types of employment is complete and is being distributed to the heads of departments, organizations and institutions. It is largely the work of A. E. Garey, secretary of the state civil service commission, and his staff. It covers approximately 200 pages of typewriting.

"During the past few months a careful study and analysis of the places of employment in the state service has been made with a view to the preparation of a classification of positions and a standardization of salaries," Secretary Garey said.

"It is believed that the classification now will satisfactorily serve the purposes of the legislature in making up appropriations, the departments in setting up estimates, and the civil service commission in carrying out its functions as the central employment agency for the state. The titles chosen are in keeping with the best modern practice, the qualifications prescribed for the various positions are those that the state has a right to insist upon; and the salaries and wage scales are in conformity with those prevailing among the best business concerns and the neighboring civil service departments.

"This classification attempts to establish a uniform relation throughout the service by the amount and quality of work performed and the rate of pay received. It will insure relatively the same pay for the same work. It will carry this uniformity throughout the service regardless of department lines. It will make possible the advancement of pay of an individual within the proper limits for increased efficiency in the same position, but it will not allow advancement when there is no real change in duties and consequently no increase in usefulness to the state. It will furnish a practical basis for promotion by drawing sharper lines between classes of positions during their advancement, and it will provide a means whereby compensation may be paid to those in the more responsible positions and will furnish a means whereby those in the lesser responsible positions may qualify for advancement to the greater."

BE OPEN HEARTED, SHOE MEN ADVISED

J. B. Langenberg Writes Article in National Footwear Magazine

"A little more open heartedness on the part of the shoe merchants to their fellow shoemen would, in many cases, make business a pleasure and not a hardship," said J. B. Langenberg of Appleton, secretary of the Wisconsin Shoe Retailers' association in an article published in the May issue of the National Footwear magazine.

"In these days of hustle and bustle, we find ourselves confronted with many problems over which we spend many hours, 'the article stated'. In most districts you will find that your business is nobody's business and that you don't care about the anyone else's business. This condition is very detrimental to the shoe business.

"Cooperation is the proper method to use in meeting the big problems that confront each and everyone of us. Form local clubs, have regular meetings where the problems of all can be openly discussed and where new plans for creating business can be devised.

"The prime motive of the shoe dealer should be to fit feet and not to merchandise his wares. In the first instance the customer gets satisfaction from the standpoint of style, comfort, fit and reliability plus professional service while in the second place the only satisfaction he gets is in so far as his purse is concerned and in many of these cases more harm is done to the feet than good to the purse.

"It is a positive fact, that the harder you are on the customers the easier and more satisfactory you are to his feet and the easier you are on the customer's purse the more chances you are giving him to harm and in time run his feet, according to the article. Ruined feet mean an aggravated customer and in many cases a lost customer, plus a knoecker to your business as well as to the ability of the shoemen to fit the feet. Let us apply the Golden Rule to our business relations with our customers and we will profit in the long run."

WAR DEPARTMENT FINALLY PUTS COMFORT IN SOLDIER'S UNIFORM

1802

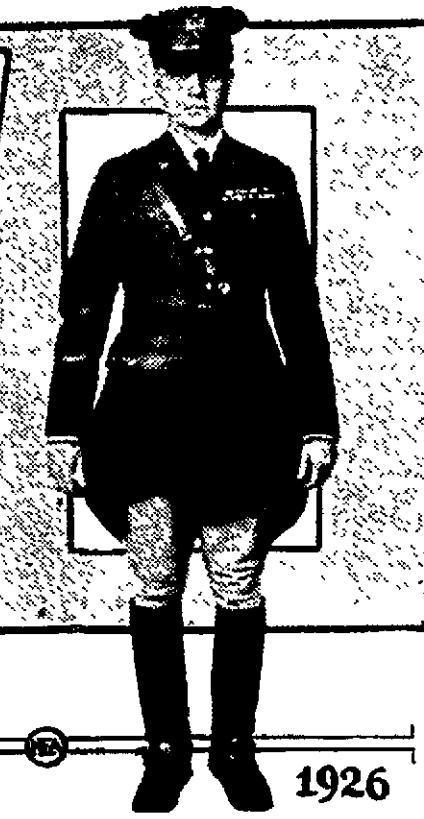

1848

1861

1898

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington—With the final, though belated, adoption of the roll collar, on coats and overcoats, the United States army at last has evolved as comfortable a uniform as has any army in the world.

The soldiers' convenience hasn't been the sole consideration. In American history, in dictating what the nation's fighting men were required to wear.

True, most wars—not only ours but theirs that we've watched from the side lines—have brought modifications in the color and cut of our military raimen. Many another change, however, has been purely a matter of some new style—'of no more real utility than the bustle had. The Revolutionary soldier wore what he could get. There was a regularly prescribed uniform of blue and buff, but there weren't enough to go around. Ordinary civilian clothes were worn, too, captured British uniforms, anything that came to hand.

By the War of 1812 long trousers had come in. So had a ridiculous little tight jacket, with tails, and a dreadful leathern stock around the neck. With this outfit went a high, stiff shak which must have been terrible to wear but was some protection against a saber cut—they fought at close range then.

Plus a pair of epaulettes—an ornamental survival from the days of shoulder armor—the Mexican War campaigner was clad much like the veteran of 1812.

Up to this time, full dress uniform had been the only kind of uniform there was, but the Civil War was too rough-and-tumble a scramble to look after fancy dress. Sartorial fuss and feathers re-maintained the order of the day on formal occasions, but the war was fought in strictly practical attire—dark blue jacket, trousers of lighter blue and peaked forage cap or broad slouch hat.

It was a very serviceable get-up and lasted, with no radical changes, except a remodeling of the cap on neither line, until the Spanish-American War.

Fighting in Cuba and the Philippines introduced khaki. There were two reasons why.

The Revolutionary musket had but a 100-yard range. Even the Civil War weapon carried only four times that far. At such distances protective coloring didn't count. If a man was close enough to hit he was close enough to see, no matter what colors he wore. But now ranges were much greater and the soldiers had an object in fading into his background. The neutral-tinted khaki gave him some chance to do it.

Also, the dark blue of the earlier uniform was absorbent of the sun's rays, and therefore, for tropical warfare, too hot.

The World War found the army in its present olive drab, but with standing collar and somewhat abbreviated skirts to the coat.

Now a standing collar is uncomfortable on a warm day and a bob-tailed coat lacks elegance. Some of our officers overseas took a look at their British brethren and suggested that they'd like lapel coats, and longer ones. Large bodies move slowly and the war department only recently approved the change, but ultimately it did.

Greek Athletic League At Lawrence Reorganized

Fraternity athletics at Lawrence this coming school year will operate under an entirely new system. A complete reorganization of the Greek Athletic league, aimed to remedy the defects in inter-fraternity competition that made themselves apparent last season, has been effected by representatives of the various fraternities and the athletic department of the college.

Not only have numerous changes been made, but the fraternity sport program has been considerably enlarged, and it is expected to be a banner year for the school in this field.

The principle change in the old system has been the creation of a 'board of arbitration' to supervise the management of inter-fraternity sports. This board will consist of three faculty members appointed by the athletic department, and all matters of dispute will be placed in their hands and their decisions will be final. In the past year the fraternities settled their disputes among themselves, and this was one of the chief criticisms against the old system.

Eligibility rules also have come under the hammer. "L" men will not be eligible for competition in the Greek league after active training has started in their sport, this ruling being made to eliminate any conflict between varsity and fraternity athletics such as occurred last season.

In accordance with the Lawrence athletic department's program for the enlargement of sports within the school, the awards for the winners in the Greek league have been increased and enlarged to promote greater interest in these sports. Larger cups will go to winners of both second and first places in the league, and in addition silver loving cups will be given to the winner of each event on the program.

Horse-shoe pitching and playground ball have been dropped, but a new sport will be a series of relay races, indirectly intended to uncover track material for the varsity cinder-path squad. Golf has been changed from a spring to a fall event.

The points awarded for each sport have been revised, the new standard being based upon the interest shown in each sport and the number of men participating in it. The new point system: volley ball 100; basketball 175; bowling 175; foul-throwing 30; relay races 75; tennis 75; baseball 175.

APPLETON WOMAN GRANTED DIVORCE

Mrs. Mary Heinz Wins Suit on Charge of Cruel, Inhuman Treatment

Mrs. Mary Heinz, Appleton, was granted a divorce decree Friday morning in municipal court by Judge Theodore Berg. Mrs. Heinz brought suit against her husband, George J. Heinz, Appleton, charging non-support and cruel and inhuman treatment, including allegations that he accused her of improper conduct, that he called her vile names, and that he had abused her at various times. These charges were denied by Heinz, who contested the suit, but alleged in his answer to the complaint that his wife had conducted herself in a manner unbecoming to a wife and mother.

Mrs. Heinz was awarded the custody of their four children in the decree. The matter of alimony and division of property was taken under advisement by the court. Mr. and Mrs. Heinz were married July 26, 1904, in the village of Mackville.

DRIVERS SHOULD RESPECT SIGNS

Grade Crossing Accidents Will Continue Until Motorists Use Care

La Crosse—(P)—Automobile drivers should learn to respect the automatic warnings at grade crossings, just as they have learned to respect the cow that crosses the highway, Bert Arnold, Milwaukee, assistant general manager of the North Shore Line, told the electric railway section of the Wisconsin Utilities association here Saturday.

"Many cows have been sacrificed to teach motorists to drive carefully when they meet up with her but the costly lesson has impressed itself," said Mr. Arnold. "Now you can hardly ever hear of a driver having a collision with our friend the cow."

"A cow is less conspicuous, with her quiet manner and poise, than the nervous Wig-way shimmying and blinking of signal lights and clanging of noisy bells, telling the driver the high speed train is approaching. She is less colorful than the striped gate extending across the highway. She is less foreboding than a crossing watchman with a warning sign in his hands. "Electric railway men wonder at this greater respect for the cow, in the face of the fact that so many lives are being snuffed out each year because of disregard for the wigway, gate or watchman.

"Grade crossings accidents will continue" to occur—mark you, we say occur and not happen—until the drivers of automobiles learn to respect the warnings provided by railway companies to the same degree as they now respect the cow."

MORE WARS FOR OUR CHILDREN

It is June 19, 1815. Yesterday Waterloo was fought and the bloody Napoleon is in precipitant flight. The end at last has come to the career of this military genius who built a throne on a foundation of human woe and suffering and whose dynasty was of force and violence. The world war of that period covered over fifteen years of sanguinary conflict. At different times it involved Russia, Germany, Austria, Italy, Spain, England, France, Portugal, and even peaceful Switzerland did not entirely escape.

At its conclusion and with Napoleon safely tucked away at St. Helena the world breathed freely for a moment. Women ceased wearing mourning, youths grew into manhood with both arms. The far-sighted men and women of that time prayed appealingly to the nations so sick and weary of war to take some enduring steps that might prevent future conflicts. There was a peace conference at Vienna but after it was concluded nothing really existed to hold Mars from again donning his armor. Greed, envy, ignorance and hatred still ruled over intelligence, and civilization limped away from the peace conference without protection.

The world stumbled on through another century of bloody conflicts. England fought Russia. Germany fought Austria. France fought Italy. We fought Mexico. Germany fought France. Turkey fought Russia. Germany fought Denmark. We fought Spain.

There was hardly a breathing spell. For war reigned supreme. Nor was there any method known to prevent man's worst qualities flaring into battle. Who favors the continuance of the slaughter? What little-minded man will take the responsibility for future battlefields? Who bears the brunt of war? Trained generals plan campaigns and place their army corps as pawns upon a chess-board but those who handle the guns and wield the bayonets are farmers, laborers, clerks and students. They are the ones who fight and die and theirs are the families who suffer most.

Since the crash came in 1914 the minds of men and women have been absorbed with the purpose of so constructing government as to prevent in so far as possible another century of warfare like the last. Nations cannot agree that under no circumstances will they go to war because they cannot know in advance what circumstances may arise; but they can agree that before they unsheathe the sword sufficient time shall be permitted to elapse so that every effort to maintain peace can be made and reason given some chance to overcome anger. It is the conviction of those best placed to know that such a system alone will, of and by itself, prevent nine out of ten wars that otherwise will ensue.

Mr. Blaine, professing the deepest form of love and affection for his fellow-men and abhorring war to the extent that he would not participate in one when his own country was involved, is seriously opposed to any such plan. There were plenty of Blaines in Europe in 1815. The Lenroofs of that time were outmaneuvered. That is the reason the century following was one of unparalleled bloodshed.

What shall the answer to this sort of "statesmanship" be? Anyone who will take the time to read can ascertain from centuries of history that the Blaine attitude has always meant trenches, field hospitals, maimed bodies, tombstones, debts and misery; and most of all to those for whom Mr. Blaine pretends an ardent political affection. To avoid such results people must select leaders of proven ability. If we as a people are so lacking in intelligence that we cannot tell the difference between a politician and a statesman perhaps we deserve the penalty of the future wars, but our children are innocent and do not deserve such a heritage.

HAYNES vs. ANDREWS

Rumors, so prevalent and persistent and so false in many cases are now busy spreading the tidings that General Lincoln C. Andrews is to resign his post as prohibition enforcement officer in September when he returns from Europe, and that Colonel Ray A. Haynes, former prohibition administrator, will be appointed in his stead. Even if it is not true, it furnishes an interesting field for speculation for it will be remembered that Haynes was known as an "Anti-Saloon league man" and it was freely stated that he was subservient to their every wish.

Andrews, on the other hand, has sometimes opposed the Anti-Saloon League, accepting his job as prohibition enforcement officer with more the attitude of a business man rather than a religious zealot. This has displeased the Anti-Saloon league, which is busily engaged in a concentrated effort to propagate "Pollyanna" prohibition feeling, stressing that the situation is "not so bad" and that it must eventually become "better."

Andrews may have made his mistakes, but he has been conscientious throughout. He has not minced words. He does not exactly approve of the present prohibition measures because he does not really believe them founded on reason, but he does take his job seriously and has honestly tried to curb the illicit liquor traffic, difficult a job as that undoubtedly is.

Very frankly, Colonel Haynes will have to show a different brand of conduct in the future than in the past if General Andrews quits and he gets the job, for in the last two years there has grown a great sentiment against prohibition as being an unworkable proposition and this feeling is becoming almost as well organized as is the dry force. Thus, if Colonel Haynes were again to be the mere chattel of the Anti-Saloon league there would be an immediate and unfavorable reaction from the opposing forces.

A TRAFFIC SUGGESTION

Habit and lack of information about good, but less traveled, roads are together responsible for a great part of the congestion on the principal highways. Much of the crowding could be eliminated, traffic speeded up and road wear equalized by a system of road education, a sort of campaign to inform the public of the various routes that may be used to reach the same destination.

At the present time the motoring public sticks to a certain highway because it knows no other way, or because it is popular. Proper posting, by means of large, easily read signs, giving alternate routes, would soon tend to divert some of the excess traffic to the less used and, in many cases, more charming roads.

The proper agency to accomplish this result is in each case the state, since it is to the state's interest to avoid all the congestion possible and to speed up automobile traffic through the main highway arteries.

TODAY'S POEM

By HAL COCHRAN

Somewhat or other, ya sorta relax, an' all the world swings into tune. How different the mind is, how different it acts whenever ya sit 'neath the moon.

Ya turn to sky-gazing and dreamin' at bit, and ya hull all your troubles to sleep. Ya soon get ta thinkin' that life seems ta fit, and your worries are only mind-deep.

The toll that has troubled you all through the day, and robbed you, you think, of your fun, runs out, out of mind, when you're losin' this way, and you're kinda glad, now, that it's done.

Out there, 'neath the moon, there's heaps you can gain, and most always the dark turns to bright. Your old mind rests easy and starts workin' sane, and the past heavy burdens seem light. Ya sorta give in to the freeness at play, and ya come ta find out, as ya roam 'neath the moon that, though it is a long ways away, it can bring common sense close ta home.

WHEN MEAT IS RARE AND JUICY

A mere tapeworm is nothing to speak about even in privacy, but trichinosis is something else again and I beg leave to say something about it here in public.

Tapeworm, at least the kind which prevails in this country, seldom causes serious disturbance of the host's health, unless the host and an eloquent quack both learn of the parasite's presence. In the vast majority of cases the host never does learn that he harbors a tapeworm. In the vast majority of cases in which a rather enormous appetite accompanies a rather spare build, the tapeworm suggestion proves fallacious. It requires only a small bite of food daily to maintain a thriving tapeworm anyway, and I dare say most persons who really have tapeworm have only ordinary appetites and are well nourished or too well nourished.

A tapeworm passes the peaceful cycle of existence between the intestine of man and the intestine and flesh of cattle. Let us trace the cycle. John Doe harbors a tapeworm, whether John knows it or not. The tapeworm lays innumerable eggs which can be seen only with the aid of a microscope. The eggs leave the host's body with the excreta, and through unsanitary or accidental circumstances the water pastured or feed of cattle becomes contaminated; the cattle ingest the eggs in or on their water or feed in the intestine of the cow the eggs develop into larvae, which penetrate the intestinal wall and invade the flesh of the animal. Flesh containing the embedded larvae is called "measly beef." Although meat inspection ordinarily detects the "measles" and insures rejection of the carcass, we must remember that considerable meat is marketed without such inspection. If any such meat is ingested raw or rare or underdone the larvae develop in the intestine of man to adult tapeworms. That is the way Richard Roe gets his.

A more dangerous variety of tapeworm, uncommon in this country passes a similar cycle of existence between the intestine of man and the intestine and flesh of the hog.

But the most dangerous of such parasites is the one known as trichina, which passes its life cycle in man, rat, and hog. Unlike the tapeworm this parasite may go through the complete cycle of its existence in one host. One or two per cent of swine killed in America are found infested; and a greater proportion of rats are found infested. Trichinosis is fatal in from 10 to 30 per cent of cases in man.

Four cases, with recovery were recently reported by Dr. William L. Bettles, University students attending a football game bought lunch in a restaurant. They ate pork which one of them remarked at the time was rather rare. Nearly three weeks later two of them entered the infirmary with fever, swelling of the eyelids and face. The next day the third fell ill, and four days later the fourth, all with similar symptoms. They had experienced some digestive disturbance and nausea four or five days before entering the infirmary, and one had had a chill with the onset of his illness. They had some soreness of the muscles of the jaws and eyeballs and the neck. All but one had a sharp increase in the number of white corpuscles, particularly the proportion of leucocytes which take a specific red stain. This latter is characteristic of parasitic infestation. All but one submitted to the removal of a bit of calf muscle for microscopic test, and the muscle in each instance contained the larval worm. All recovered fully after several weeks.

Ham, sausage or pork should be thoroughly cooked to insure the destruction of any such parasites.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Diseased Tonsils

What is the meaning of "muscle bound" eyes? Can diseased tonsils be cured by X-ray treatments? (Miss M. S.)

Answer—I do not know what "muscle bound" eyes mean. X-ray treatment is effective for the simple enlargement or hypertrophy of the tonsils which commonly accompanies adenoid hypertrophy in children. It is useless for infected or diseased tonsils.

POLITICS WITH CONFUSED EYES

Multiplicity of Issues Gives Chaotic Aspect to National Situation

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—Not in many years has the national political situation been so chaotic as it appears to experienced observers on the eve of the 1926 campaign. Forecasting, it seems, is to become a lost art for the time being, for those who usually indulge in it with the greatest confidence are throwing up their hands and saying that no one can tell what is going to happen, until it has happened and the votes have been cast and counted next November.

The reason for this is found in the multiplicity of issues in the impending fight for the control of congress, the breaking down of party lines, the revelations as to the use of astounding sums of money in primary struggles, and the jockeying that is going on for advantage in the contests for the Republican and Democratic presidential nominations in 1928.

None of the issues is expected to prove so dominant as to control results throughout the nation, but each one will be important in various states and may have a vital bearing on the results as a whole. And to date, the politicians seem agreed, there has been little from which to get a line on what the people as a whole actually think about the various issues.

Ordinarily in a by-election year the principal issue as between the great parties is the approval or disapproval of the administration in power. Such was the situation in 1906 and Roosevelt and his policies were okayed by the national electorate. In 1910 the Republicans asked for a vote of confidence in Taft, and instead received a jolt that was the beginning of party disaster for them.

In 1914 the Wilson administration was the main issue, and the voters in the congressional elections said that they did not think so much of the gentleman from Princeton. Wilson was able to pull through in 1916, however, despite this indication of the popular trend, by reason of blunders made by the Republicans, but in 1918 there were signs of the swing of popular sentiment that climaxed in the Harding landslide of 1920. In 1922 the verdict appeared one of approval of the Harding administration, and in 1924, which was in effect not actually a by-election test for Coolidge, there was an overwhelming endorsement of the Coolidge administration.

REAL TEST THIS YEAR

The real test for President Coolidge comes this year real in the sense that it is crucial. It is recognized that the issue of approving or disapproving his administration is far from the overshadowing issue in the congressional elections, and that as a result of difference over other issues, such as the highly important one of farm relief, the Republicans can not well present a solid front in support of their president and his policies. Democratic gains in seats in the house and the senate, therefore, will not be regarded by staunch Coolidge adherents as a popular rejection of their leader, and they will be able to explain away to their own satisfaction anything untoward that happens.

The question that is worrying most of the experts is as to the bearing that the issue of farm relief is to have. The farmer vote in the north and west has long been the backbone of the Republican party and serious defection among the agriculturists has invariably presaged Republican reverses. With the defeat of the Haugen relief measure largely because of the attacks on it by the president and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, and, in turn, the rejection of the Fess proposal which had the approval of President Coolidge and was indubitably what he wanted done to relieve the distress of the farmers, the Republicans, as a party are very much in the air. The farmers wanted the Haugen bill, and did not want that sponsored by the Ohio senator. One bill was opposed and the other favored by the President. Both had Republican votes for and against in the Senate. Where does the G. O. P. stand?

AN ECONOMIC PROBLEM
In the circumstances it appears that about the only position the Republicans can take as a party is that the question is an economic problem and not a partisan issue, and that farmers should vote the Republican ticket. This fall because the Republican party is the only one that can solve economic problems effectively and should be trusted to solve this one. They can not well ask farmer support because of what Coolidge has done or proposed to do for the agricultural industry, or for what a Republican congress done or proposed.

On the other hand, the Democrats are by no means united on a program of farm relief, and they have advanced no constructive proposal that is satisfactory to agricultural interests. They can only argue that they will do the right thing by the farmer when they are given control of congress and are in a position to legislate.

The question, therefore, seems to be whether there will be a serious defection in the Republican farmer vote because the farmers are mad at the G. O. P. and are willing to take their chances with the Democrats, once the latter are entrusted with power. Republican leaders remember only too well that the farmers did that very thing in the by-election of 1910. They remember also that the farmers were not at all pleased with what they got from the Democrats when the latter were given control of congress, and it goes without saying that they will make a valiant effort to help the farmers remember that, also.

Then there is the wet and dry issue, now developed to a degree of importance such that it may well decide the election of a sufficient number at senators and representatives to determine which party will dominate the next congress. About the only thing known definitely as to the popular sentiment on this issue is that the wets are gaining in strength. Their organizations are making a drive for referendums on the question in eight States, and their leaders say they expect to carry all of them. The dries laugh at that claim, but they are somewhat concerned over the situation. They do not like the outlook in New York, Ohio, California, and Illinois, particularly.

The Question Box

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Frederic J. Haskin is employed by this paper to handle the inquiries of our readers, and you are invited to call upon him as freely and as often as you please. Ask anything that is a matter of fact and the authority will be quoted you. There is no charge for this service. Ask what you want, sign your name and address, and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. Address the Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. Why is the petunia so named?

A. plant is a species of tobacco. The name is derived from petum or petun, an old name for tobacco.

Q. How many different causes of death are there? L. K.

A. Fifteen principal causes of death are listed by statisticians, as follows: pneumonia, consumption, heart diseases, apoplexy, cancer, old age, bronchitis, cholera, infantum, debility, inflammation of the brain and meningitis, diphtheria, typhoid, and premature birth.

Q. Is there life on Venus? C. H. M.

A. The question can not be answered definitely. Dr. C. G. Abbot of the Smithsonian Institution says that it seems more probable that life corresponding to life on the Earth exists on Venus than on Mars. The conditions on Venus are similar to those on Earth, while Mars probably differs in many ways.

Q. Is goat's milk healthful? L. H. G.

A. Goats are remarkably free from tuberculosis (no trace in over 13,000 goats slaughtered); and goat's milk is therefore strongly recommended by many people. The milk is fully as digestible as cow's milk, and children not doing well on other milk foods have sometimes been greatly benefited by a change to goat's milk. Many people could keep a goat who lack space for a cow; the goat is also a cleaner animal than the cow. There is, however, one danger in goat milk. Goats in the Mediterranean countries frequently transfer Malta fever through the milk, and the wholesale use of goats in this country might be dangerous, although the disease is not common in our goats at present.

Q. Which has the larger sale, the Bible or novels in general? R. E. L.

A. More Bibles are sold annually than novels.

Q. Was the diamond valued by the ancients? P. J. H.

A. It is problematical whether or not the diamond was known to the ancients. There are in the British Museum some Roman rings of the fourth century, A. D., set with diamond crystals. Diamond points were also used by the later Greek and Roman engravers.

Q. Why is ermine considered the royal fur? C. C. M.

A. Its beauty caused it to be worn by royalty and King Edward III made it a punishable offense for anyone except those of royal birth to wear it. This restriction has long been removed, but the fur still enjoys royal favor.

Q. How much gas does a gas well produce in a day? D. M.

A. It depends upon the pressure. Some wells produce 30,000,000 to 40,000,000 cubic feet of gas in 24 hours, and some of twice this capacity have been known.

TOURIST TRAFFIC IS HEAVY PAST FEW DAYS

The past few days have witnessed a heavy tourist traffic here. Appleton hotels report they have few vacant rooms at night, as most transients prefer to spend the cool nights in a hotel instead of at a campsite. Three weeks more will practically mark the close of the 1926 tourist season, for most travelers start for home during the last week in August and first week in September.

FASHION HINTS

CREPE SATIN
The fad for using both sides of crepe satin has produced street and afternoon dresses of elegant simplicity. No other trimming is needed than the contrast in surfaces.

SERPENT LEATHERS
Reptile leathers hold their own in the shoe world. Pumps are cut higher of late, and heels are higher, too.

CORAL COLOR
Coral color, an old-fashioned shade, is returning to prominence in the trimming of gray and putty-colored frocks.

LIKE PLAIN GLOVES
While many of the new gloves for fall feature cuffs and fancy cuts, the most conservatively dressed women prefer the simple slip-on style that is absolutely plain.

PARIS RECOMMENDS
One of the most charming styles in Paris is the tulle of moire, worn with a frilled blouse of chiffon or crepe.

MATCHING JEWELRY
Matching bracelets and necklaces are enjoying a vogue. Usually these are of the chain variety, or composed of links of alternating gold or silver and semi-precious stones.

OH, OF COURSE!
Popular as narrow bracelets are, the wide one of diamonds in combination with sapphires or emeralds is infinitely smarter—and ever so much more costly.

THIS FOR CHANGE
More popular than the tailleur developed all in one tone is the coat of plain color and the skirt of checked or plaid material.

EYELET EMBROIDERY
Eyelet embroidery on crepe de chine and taffeta is being used very extensively this season.

I was tired all the time. I think my trouble was coming on me for six months before I realized it. I read of your wonderful medicine in the paper, and my husband bought me a bottle, and after the first few doses I felt better, so kept on taking it until I was well and strong. I take it at times when I feel tired and it helps me. I will always have a good word for your medicine and tell anyone what good it has done me. ### MULFORDS TRIP CLERKS 8-6 IN SOFTBALL GAME

League Leaders Throw Away Contest With Many Bad "Boners"

Kaukauna—Mulford's finally slipped into the win column of the Kaukauna Twilight Softball league by defeating the Clerks 8 to 6 Friday night. The Clerks committed enough errors to lose two ball games, playing like league leaders at times and then displaying hopeless exhibitions. Al Youngberg pitched a good game for Mulford's.

The scoring started in the second when Mulford's scored twice, and repeated in the third as Anderson and Perens hit three baggers in succession. The Clerks retaliated in the fourth and scored three times, but Mulford's got those three runs back in the fifth when Fahnke muffed one with two men on bases. Both scored once in the sixth. Fahnke permitted another one to get away from him in the sixth for the Mulford run of the inning. The Clerks started hitting the ball to left short and scored two runs by three hits through that spot in the seventh.

Clerks lineup: Minkbege, Nagel, Hass, Andrews, Graf, Ashauer, Fahnke, Bollinske, Brandt, Maul and Van Lieshout.

Mulford's: Hass, Youngberg, Robideau, Webster, Michel, Berens, Haas, Anderson, Berens and Rennieke.

Score by innings:

Inning	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	Total
Clerks	0	0	0	2	0	0	1	2	0	6
Mulford's	0	2	2	0	0	1	0	0	1	8

Batteries: Clerks—Minkbege and Nagel; Mulford's—Youngberg and Robideau.

Kaukauna remains undefeated in the Junior Fox River Valley Baseball league and should easily win the pennant. The game was Little Chute's fifth consecutive defeat while Kaukauna has won six.

HIGH LIVES AND SODA GRILLS ARE LEAGUE WINNERS

Former Team Downs New York Lives 15-3, and Lat-tor Beats Undertakers

New London—Thursday night's softball game between the New York Lives and High Lives resulted in a 15-3 win for the High Lives. Both teams played with eight men and substitute pitchers. Batteries were: High Lives, Doones and Ullrich; New York Lives, Muel and Seims.

On Friday night the Soda Grill outplayed, outslugged and outfielded the Undertakers 12 to 6. Melkjohn pitched a steady game while Frame of the losers was hit hard. His support was erratic, as the infielders booted the ball all over the playgrounds. If the Soda Grills can keep up the pace they showed they will undoubtedly cop the pennant. Batteries were: Soda Grills, Melkjohn and Fueser; Undertakers, Frame and Vaughn.

There were no outstanding hitters for the winners. Each player simply hit the ball into safe territory. A crowd of about one hundred spectators witnessed the game.

On Sunday the Stuart tribe will go to Embarrass where they expect to make up for last Sunday's defeat. It is expected that Laash will start the game, with Wahl in reserve. A good number of fans from this city will attend.

GIRLS RETURN FROM CHERRY PICKING CAMP

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Leaving Sturgeon Bay at 8 o'clock Friday morning, Olive Rosentreter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Rosentreter, and Magdelene Knapstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Knapstein, arrived home from the cherry picking camp, where they spent the past month, at 4 o'clock Friday evening. Although they started to walk, they were given many "lifts" along the way, reaching the city in excellent time.

The original plans were drawn by Martin Volck of Chattanooga, Tenn., and from these the Menzies plant at Cookville, Tenn., is now being constructed. However, owing to the difference in climatic conditions in the two factory sites and to the fact that Wisconsin's Industrial commission exacts most stringent building regulations, alterations must be made.

The specifications call for a building having floor space measuring 100 by 250 feet. The structure will be one story, with 20 feet of floor clearance between floor and ceiling. The unit system of heating and ventilating will be installed.

There will be no Epworth League this Sunday evening.

Special lesson service will be furnished to Leaguers for the last Sunday of this month.

No Services will be held, excepting Sunday School for the two Sundays of August 22 and 29th, an account of absence of the minister from the charge.

STAGE And SCREEN

SCORES BIG TRIUMPH

WITH "SWEET DADDIES"
Alfred A. Santell, the brilliant young director who has given the screen "Classified" and "Bluebeard's Seven Wives," has made another winner. It is "Sweet Daddies," at the Elite Theatre today and Sunday. The new production is one glorious laugh from beginning to end, with thrills and love interest and a few other things thrown in for good measure.

"Sweet Daddies" is without question the "Sweet Daddy" of all the comedy dramas we've seen this season. From the opening scene, when a freshly baked berry pie spreads itself over the immaculate white shirt front of Gaston Glass, the gale of merriment which sweeps the audience does not recede until the final fade-out.

When Charlie Murray enters the scene he is an advance courier heralding riotous screen entertainment. George Sidney, who is Charlie's partner in fun, does another of his inimitable Hebrew characterizations in "Sweet Daddies," and both of them have an invaluable aid in Vera Gordon.

"Sweet Daddies" is a tale of love and molasses—a queer partnership between a wealthy son of Abraham and a shrewd son of Erin—and boasts one of the most humorous surprise endings we have ever witnessed.

Jobyna Ralston, as the ingenue, is both talented and beautiful, and debonair Jack Mulhall, who will soon rate stardom in his own name, gives a superlative performance. Gaston Glass, protege of the late Sarah Bernhardt, and Aggie Herring, the capable character actress, add to the enjoyment of "Sweet Daddies."

M. C. Leves produced "Sweet Daddies" for First National. It is his first comedy picture in his own name. We hope he makes more. And Alfred Santell is the goods—yesiree!

"AFTER BUSINESS HOURS"

"After business hours," at the New Bijou Monday and Tuesday was adapted from a story written by Ethel Watts Mumford. This story was published in the August, 1924, number of Hearst's International Magazine and in that publication was read by nearly a million people. It was one of a group suggested by a jury of well known editors as being suitable for motion picture production. In its original publication it bore the title of "Everything Money Can Buy."

The story is one of a husband who loved his wife above everything else in the world and in the self-centred way of many business men he thought that a woman could not learn to handle money and he trusted her in every respect but in the handling of money. She was forced to ask him for even such small sums as carfare and tips. This picture has a very excellent cast headed by Elaine Hammerstein and supported by Lou Tellegen. Others in the cast are John Patrick, Joe Hoffman, William Scott and Lee Moran.

TOMORROW AT THE APPLETON THE WINNING PLAYERS IN "THE EASY MARK"

What the Press had to say about "The Easy Mark":

Had Anderson not turned quickly to the left, his machine would have been struck in the center of the side. The left front wheel of the Danielson car was broken, while the right side of Anderson's car was badly dented. Unable to avoid the ditch, he was turned over, landing on its top. ## STEEL BUYING REMAINS HEAVY

Story of Unprecedented Business in July Is Repeated in August

Cleveland, O.—Iron Trade Review says: August thus far is repeating the story of the unprecedented volume of steel buying written by July. New business entered for the first part of the month is fully up to the unusual magnitude of the past six weeks and fresh requirements are on a scale that is calculated to sustain a broad market indefinitely. An August business comparable with July will give the steel industry at large its greatest midsummer vitality in history.

Indications of substantial gains over July are not infrequent in reports of current conditions. A Chicago independent booked more than 50 per cent greater tonnage last week than in the corresponding period a month ago. The leading producer entered last week the greatest tonnage of steel in the present year, exceeding one period in March. New business in sheets for this maker at present is averaging 30 per cent of mill capacity. Strip steel business is reported to be 25 to 30 per cent better than in July. A comparative record covering a large fraction of total finishing capacity shows sales and specifications in heavy products for the past seven months are 12 per cent ahead of the same period of 1925.

The gain of 124,010 tons in unfilled orders in July by the Steel corporation marks the first turn from a period of decline ever recorded for that month. In 1925 the recovery after the tapering off from the heavy buying period came two months later and in 1924 one month later.

More steel ingots were produced in July than any similar month on record and the tonnage represented 78.2 per cent of total capacity compared with 80.34 per cent in June and 84.51 per cent in May. Because there was one less operating day this year than July, 1925, the daily average output was slightly less than in the latter month. In July the country was making ingots at the annual rate of 43,670,000 tons.

After a period of booking and filling, the scrap market has moved forward under real consumer buying in volume. Sales of heavy melting steel reported from different districts this week total about 150,000 tons. In several districts various grades of scrap have advanced from 50 cents to $1.

Coke is stronger and has advanced. The treasury department temporarily has lifted the ban upon importations of Indian pig iron pending further notice as it has been unable to determine the amount of the bounty to be paid upon which it is to be assessed.

Prolongation of the destructive British coal strike with its drastic effects upon industry is indicated by the refusal of the government to extend the subsidy to the miners pending arbitration. A few more blast furnaces have managed to resume using imported coal.

For the third consecutive week there is no change in IRON TRADE REVIEW composite of fourteen leading iron and steel products. The average this week stays at $37.61.

Babson Predicts Mill Stocks Will Come Back

Babson Park, Mass. — Roger W. Babson has returned from a trip through New England, visiting the principal mill centers with especial reference to the outlook. He visited cotton mills, woolen mills, and shoe factories. His complete statement is as follows:

"While traveling through some of the manufacturing centers of New England I have been very forcefully struck by certain fundamental conditions which exist throughout our country today, the results of which are now probably being first felt here in New England. Therefore, I want to write this letter to you emphasizing these conditions which I believe may prove very harmful to our industrial and financial life.

MILL OWNERS DISCOURAGED
"I have heard that manufacturing conditions in New England were dull, but I had no idea as to the general pessimism until this recent trip. Only a few mills are running full time, many mills shut down altogether, and the majority operating but part time. Mill owners are discouraged, stock holders are selling their securities, and many of the workers are wavering for other parts of the country. Of course, our statistics show that a similar situation, to a more or less limited extent, exists in other sections of the country, but I have not personally witnessed such marked changes as I have in many of the New England manufacturing centers. Having been brought up in Massachusetts, I instinctively notice changes here more than elsewhere. I am still a bull on New England for the long pull, but one cannot be honest and shut his eyes to the present situation.

UNION LABOR BLAMED
"Various reasons are given for these present dull conditions. Manufacturers almost universally claim that these troubles are due to union labor. They do not object to union wages, but to the restricted output, lax discipline, and loss of morale which a highly unionized community seems to unconsciously develop. The labor leaders naturally defy this assumption, and insist that changed conditions and changed styles are responsible for the present mill situation. These labor leaders point to the fact that people now prefer clothes of rayon rather than of cotton or wool, while the automobile has changed the market for shoes. Personally, although granting that all the above reasons are factors in the situation, I believe that the real difficulty with the New England mills is to be with their management.

"When the owner of the mill lived in the community where the mill was located and personally worried about its success he had no labor troubles, and was usually prepared for changing conditions. Both labor troubles and unpreparedness as to changing conditions are primarily the results of absentee ownership. The real difficulty with the New England cotton and woolen mills is that one is obliged to hold a stockholders' meeting in a local cemetery to get a quorum! As a result, the present directors of these corporations have no stockholders to hold them to account and hence these directors have become careless and indifferent to their responsibilities, or are the real owners of the properties, the industries of New England will again boom. In the meantime corporations should avoid having too many directors who are employees.

EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM FAULTY
"Real prosperity exists only where production and consumption balance. Prosperity does not depend upon the amount produced, or the amount consumed, so long as everyone is employed. Ideal conditions exist when there is a balance, with neither a shortage nor a surplus of labor. Economists differ as to which must come first, the demand for goods, or the supply of goods, but to have a constantly increasing reserve, production must exceed consumption.

Yet our entire system of education has been created to increase consumption rather than to increase production. Almost the whole effect of sending a boy or girl to school is to increase his or her wants without creating within their hearts a desire to serve and produce. A graduate from high school demands more than a graduate from college, more expensive tastes than a graduate from high school.

"Considering the tremendous increase in high school and college graduates, it is only natural that industries should now be feeling the effects of our new and intensive educational program. Of course, under certain conditions, we might need to educate people with the purpose of making them consumers; but this is not need today. American industries are not today suffering because there is no demand for the goods; but rather because the price of the goods is so high that people cannot afford to buy them. The time may soon come when to fix the countervailing duty that is to be assessed.

Prolongation of the destructive British coal strike with its drastic effects upon industry is indicated by the refusal of the government to extend the subsidy to the miners pending arbitration. A few more blast furnaces have managed to resume using imported coal.

For the third consecutive week there is no change in IRON TRADE REVIEW composite of fourteen leading iron and steel products. The average this week stays at $37.61.

IRON TRADE REVIEW
The average this week stays at $37.61.

Southern pine mills booked orders for three per cent more than they cut, and the West Coast fir mills, orders for four per cent more than they cut during the week ended July 31. The pine mills are getting the bulk of their business in the South and Southwest, and there is sound reason for believing that they will receive a good deal more business from Florida as the fall tourist season opens. Coast mills and Atlantic coast and middle West demand more active. The foreign trade outlook is said to be improving, and it is notable that overseas shipments during the first six months of this year as compared with those for the first half of 1925 showed a gain of forty per cent. Few price advances have been noted in the softwood list, but quotations in general are quite firm.

Hardwood producers are getting a good volume of business from the automobile and furniture manufacturers, and they believe that fall building will stimulate demand for millwork and flooring. The output of the northern mills has fallen off greatly during the last few weeks. Southern hardwood mills are still operating actively, new business being close to production, but output shows a tendency to decline.

our educational program must be directed to increase the desire to produce and thus lower the cost of production, the cost of building and the cost of happiness, or else we must have a moratorium for a few years on education and shut down our high schools and colleges until our mills and factories again open.

MUST HAVE BALANCE
"Another industrial factor is the increasing material and intellectual power which has been put into the hands of people during the past thirty years without increasing correspondingly their spiritual and discretionary powers. As supply and demand must balance to have a stable commodity market, so material and spiritual power must correspondingly increase if we are to have a stable civilization. A boat is much more liable to capsize when all of its cargo is on one side, and this is the situation today in many industries and many communities. So few have been taught to work that production costs are now so high that buying power has been checked.

"The automobile has tremendously increased man's power to travel, without the owner getting a corresponding knowledge of where it is worth while for him to go; the movie has tremendously increased his power to see without correspondingly increasing his discretion as to what is worth while to see. The radio has tremendously increased the ability to hear without correspondingly increasing the ability of selection. Democracy has tremendously increased man's political power without correspondingly increasing his spiritual power. The people of this country have been given power faster than they have been given discretion, and this accounts very largely for the present conditions in many industries.

"The automobile problem will not be solved by speed laws; the movie problem will not be solved by censorship; nor will the radio problem be solved by the Department of Commerce, any more than the liquor problem has been solved by prohibition. These problems will, however, be solved when the school committees and the trustees of our college recognize that their first duty is to create desires, motives, and tastes which will make people healthy, happy, and prosperous. To do this our educators must study the agricultural, industrial, and financial needs of the nation, and direct their educational work to fulfill this need, changing their courses as conditions and needs change. The need of the hour is to instill in our young people a desire to be of service, to produce and save. Otherwise, there is bound to be a crash.

CHANCES FOR INVESTORS
"When this crash comes, it will be the investors' opportunity. It may come suddenly like a panic, or it may come slowly in the form of a gradual but constant decline in security values. The latter has been the situation in the case of the New England mill stocks. Some day, most of these mill stocks are coming back again. Some of them have already reached their low figure. Without doubt, the mill stocks of New England offer a greater opportunity for profit to the long pull speculator than do the motor stocks of the Central West. Investors, however, should be sure to buy the stocks of companies which lay up a surplus during good years, and of companies which are being operated by their real owners, and not by a board of dummy directors.

"As to present business conditions the cool weather of the spring and early summer was a retarding factor; but recently the weather has been more seasonal and business has been correspondingly prospered. It is not cool weather nor hot weather per se which business needs, but rather business needs normal and reasonable weather. This is shown graphically by the Babson chart which now stands at 8 per cent above normal with indications that it may hold around here for some weeks to come."

LUMBER ORDERS TOP PRODUCTION

Tendency of Business Is to Ease Off, Although Building Volume Is Holding Up

Orders exceeding their actual production by 1 per cent were booked by 231 of the principal softwood mills during the week ended July 31, though as a rule business tends to ease off somewhat during August. Volume of city building appears to be holding up better than it was expected to. Reports from thirty-seven States that represent 91 per cent of the total construction volume of the country showed that contracts awarded in July were only five per cent less than in July of last year. But this slight decline is probably more than made up by gains in rural construction not represented in the reports, says the American Lumberman, Chicago. Total loading of forest products during the week ended July 24, the last week for which report is available, were 529 cars in excess of those for the corresponding week last year, though of course the retail distributors had not begun so early to stock up in preparation for the active fall trade that they expect.

Southern pine mills booked orders for three per cent more than they cut, and the West Coast fir mills, orders for four per cent more than they cut during the week ended July 31. The pine mills are getting the bulk of their business in the South and Southwest, and there is sound reason for believing that they will receive a good deal more business from Florida as the fall tourist season opens. ## NEW EGG MASH GAINING FAVOR AMONG FARMERS

Product of E. Liethen Grain Company Is Meeting With Approval

An egg mash for chickens that contains 2 per cent of yeast was recently placed on the market by the E. Liethen Grain company, 700 W. College-ave, and has met with great favor among farmers. The new product causes chickens to lay more and better eggs, and increases the fertility of the egg 27 per cent and the hatchability 100 per cent, and makes the chickens healthier and larger.

The new egg mash is somewhat similar to the company's chick mash which is sold by the largest hatcheries in the state. It is made from a formula that includes yeast and sugar, both ingredients of which have proven successful in chick mash. The mash is obtainable in 10, 25 and 100 pound packages and the egg mash is sold in 25 and 100 pound sacks.

Dealers who handle the product recommend it highly to their customers and some dealers say they are going to favor buying eggs from farmers who feed this type of mash to their chickens.

Sickness among chickens is usually caused by digestive ailments. The food becomes sour and causes some form of bowel trouble. Yeast feeds will keep sweet for 48 hours, thereby stimulating digestion. It is known that vitamin B must be contained in foods to help chickens grow. Yeast contains more vitamin B than any other element, and for this reason the new egg mash is a fine food for chickens. It produces immediate results.

There has never been one complaint lodged against the new egg mash, although there already are thousands of farmers and chicken growers using the new food. Every user says the same thing "Results are immediate and beneficial."

The Liethen Grain company also manufactures and sells two types of dairy food. The first, which is known as the Domino Dairy ration, contains every element that is necessary for cows to produce more, and better milk. The formula has been carefully and scientifically prepared and contains 20 per cent protein feed, 5 1/2 per cent fat foods, 10 per cent fibre foods and 50 per cent carbohydrates. Only choice materials are used in preparing the product. These materials are cottonseed meal, linseed oil meal, gluten feed, steam dried beet pulp, malt sprouts, grain barley, corn feed meal, bran, steam bone meal, calcium carbonate and salt.

STOLES FASHIONABLE FOR WOMEN SMOKERS

London—(P)—Women smokers are recommended by A. G. B., one of the leading fashion magazines in France, to wear narrow stoles of old-style braid or moire, embroidered and beaded with gold and much resembling the ritual ornaments worn by the priest over his surplice. Or a narrow, easy to slip into the purse, unupsettable and fragrant with all the "smarter" scents.

It can be fitted with little pockets for the cigarette case and lighter, the powder puff and rouge for the lips, and can of course be worn with everything, from every dress to pajamas.

PERFUME IN PASTE LATEST PARIS FAD

London—(P)—Like the daughter of Kings in the Song of Solomon, on whom sweet ointment was smeared, Miss 1926 takes her perfume from a jar. From Paris has come this latest sweet frivolity—tiny painted or enameled jars of perfume paste, easy to slip into the purse, unupsettable and fragrant with all the "smarter" scents.

For three per cent more than they cut, and the West Coast fir mills, orders for four per cent more than they cut during the week ended July 31. The pine mills are getting the bulk of their business in the South and Southwest, and there is sound reason for believing that they will receive a good deal more business from Florida as the fall tourist season opens. Coast mills and Atlantic coast and middle West demand more active. The foreign trade outlook is said to be improving, and it is notable that overseas shipments during the first six months of this year as compared with those for the first half of 1925 showed a gain of forty per cent. Few price advances have been noted in the softwood list, but quotations in general are quite firm.

Hardwood producers are getting a good volume of business from the automobile and furniture manufacturers, and they believe that fall building will stimulate demand for millwork and flooring. The output of the northern mills has fallen off greatly during the last few weeks. Southern hardwood mills are still operating actively, new business being close to production, but output shows a tendency to decline.

COOPERATION IS NEED OF FARMER, URBAN DWELLER

Professor Denyes Addresses
Kiwanis-farmer Picnic at Stephensville

"There must be more cooperation between the farmer and the city people if this world is to progress," said Prof. J. R. Denyes, in an address at the Kiwanis-farmer picnic at Stephensville Friday evening. More than 100 Kiwanians and their wives and more than 250 farmers attended.

Dr. Denyes said that most of the world's great men had been born on farms and received their training there and he pleaded for a better spirit of understanding between rural and city people.

The spirit of Kiwanism was explained by J. L. Johns, divisional governor, in a short address. He told how busy men find time to devote themselves to carrying out the principles of Kiwanism. He said that President Harding had been a Kiwanian and that President Coolidge also was a member. He told of the purposes and aims of the organization.

A basket lunch was eaten at 6 o'clock and was followed by the above addresses. George Nixon sang several solos.

Dr. M. Goeres and Lee Sugarmen were found guilty by a jury of having illegal possession of a sturgeon, but all witnesses agreed that the fish was a sturgeon. The men were arraigned before Judge Fred V. Heinemann and pleaded not guilty. The trial was held at 8 o'clock. The prisoners were defended by F. F. Wheeler, and C. E. Behnke was appointed prosecutor.

A jury of 12 men was chosen from the audience and the trial proceeded. The fish was alleged to be a sturgeon, but all witnesses agreed that the fish was a sturgeon. The men were arraigned before Judge Fred V. Heinemann and pleaded not guilty. The trial was held at 8 o'clock. The prisoners were defended by F. F. Wheeler, and C. E. Behnke was appointed prosecutor.

Jack Hertel appeared as a character witness for the defendants. In a brilliant 15 minute talk, Prosecutor Behnke convinced the jury, in spite of the fact that no witness could be found who saw the men catch the fish, the two men were guilty. The jury said they liked the way Lawyer Behnke talked and they hated to disappoint him, so they brought in a verdict of guilty with the recommendation that the two men be given the full penalty of the law.

Judge Heinemann, however, decided that he would be lenient and sentenced them to bring the said fish to his home early Saturday morning.

The Old Fiddler's contest was won by Aaron Doutry of Stephensville, with Frank Steidl a close second.

Following the mock trial, dancing was enjoyed until about 11 o'clock. In the first part of the evening music was furnished by a jazz orchestra, but the older folks finally rebelled and called on Frank Steidl to furnish some real old time music. The Charleston was barred. Several square dances, circular two steps and schottisches were on the program for the balance of the evening.

LEVITAN AND HUBER TO SPEAK HERE TONIGHT

LaFollette's Father, Selected
Present Progressive Slate,
Huber Says

"The Progressive ticket running in Wisconsin this year was practically selected by the late Senator Robert M. La Follette, Sr., several years ago," said Henry A. Huber, candidate for reelection to the office of Lieutenant Governor in an address at Brussels Friday morning. Mr. Huber will speak in Appleton at 8 o'clock Saturday evening at the Soldier's Square, across from the city hall. Solomon Levitan, candidate for reelection as state treasurer on the La Follette slate, also will give an address here Saturday evening.

"Senator La Follette was a far-seeing statesman," declared Mr. Huber, "you will remember that six years ago he came back to Wisconsin and advocated the election of a progressive slate, including John J. Blaine for governor. In 1922 Senator La Follette recalled Herman L. Ekern from the practice of law and prevailed upon him to be a candidate for attorney general. There was no secret about the matter. Every paper in the state carried the news that Mr. Ekern was to be a candidate to succeed John J. Blaine as governor, and that Mr. Blaine was to be a candidate for senator against Lenroot. All of this was years ago and represents nothing but the natural sequence of promotion of Progressives who have made good in public office."

Mr. Levitan and Mr. Huber have been making a tour of the territory in this vicinity the past week. On Thursday both men talked at Black Creek, Hortonville, Seymour and Shiocton and on Friday they talked at Brussels. Their appearance here is sponsored by the Farmer-Labor league. WHITE SUPPORTS MOVE TO SECURE BETTER HUNTING

Delivers Address at Meeting of Valley Sportsmen Friday Night

Neenah—Addressing hunters of the Fox River valley at a meeting here Friday evening, Senator Merritt White of Wisconsin declared the movement to secure unrestricted hunting privileges on Lake Poygan and surrounding lakes had his entire support.

"I believe your idea is all right," he said. "The question is how to get at these parties who are leasing marsh land and not allowing the hunter the privilege of hunting thereon. We all know there is a law which allows one to navigate the waters where a boat will float. I own a strip of land on Lake Poygan for which I have been offered a large sum if I would lease or sell, but I would not and will allow hunters who desire to hunt there any time they wish."

"Possibly a little legislation on the project for which your club is being organized would help. The so-called 'rat and fur farms' are a farce. There is no law covering them in Wisconsin. The legislature knows only too well that they are only blinds by which these so-called hunting clubs sublease for their own use with an attempt to keep other hunters from shooting or trespassing upon them."

Senator White promised all aid possible to the club in straightening things out.

The meeting was attended by over 150 hunters of Neenah, Menasha, Appleton, Winnebago and Hortonville. It was decided not to secure any legislation until the organization had been made a permanent one and regular officers elected.

Action must be slow and conservative if any results are to be obtained, it was agreed. Clyde Stanton of Appleton, formerly a member of a so-called private hunting club and who resigned, gave a short talk on how they are operated. Reports from the committees which were appointed to visit the neighboring cities showed that much interest was being taken wherever the project was explained.

A list of every hunter in Winnebago has been offered by the committee and cards will be sent to them asking each to cooperate with the Neenah club in putting the project across.

Friday evening, Aug. 20, was selected for the booster meeting which will be held in the Neenah city hall. At this time several well known speakers will be present. A general invitation was ordered sent out to all hunters in this and surrounding counties.

John Herzinger, Phillip Nash, Charles Neubauer, Frank Olla of Neenah; Chick Remick and Chick Lewson of Menasha; Stephen Olla of Hortonville; and Herbert Holts of Winnebago, were appointed on a committee to cooperate with the executive committee in arranging a program for the booster night meeting.

VANITY CASE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

In Harbor Gardens, Long Island, in an elaborate bungalow, lived PERRY HEATH and his wife, MYRA. They were entertaining as house guests LAWRENCE INMAN, a distant relative of Myra's and, aside from Perry, her only heir, and BUNNY MOORE, young, vivacious, golden-haired, an old friend of Myra's.

Myra Heath was beautiful but cold. She never used rouge, never wore colors. She collected rare bits of glass and her latest was a whisky bottle, which aroused her artist husband's scorn.

Provoked at a growing intimacy between Perry and Bunny, Myra announces she has made her will in favor of Inman, cutting her husband off. That night she quarrels with Perry and alludes mysteriously to his "secret."

Discovering Myra alone with Inman late that night, Perry orders Inman out of the house by morning, but the next day finds Perry Heath gone and his wife's body stretched on the studio floor with candles burning at her head and feet. She is made up with rouge; she is dressed in gay colors. Near her is a card marked, "The Work of Perry Heath."

She has been killed by a blow with her cherished whisky bottle. When the coroner comes Inman and Bunny are strangely nervous when made to answer questions. Meanwhile, at the country club the murder is the topic of conversation among SAM ANDERSON, WALLACE FORBES, AL CUNNINGHAM and others. MRS. FORTY, FODHUNT, ER BUCK, goes over to the Heaths and invites Bunny to stay at her house next door. Bunny breaks out crying and Buck, at sight of her beauty, is her slave.

To Wallace Forbes, Mrs. Prentiss relates having seen, the night before, strange lights mysteriously appearing and disappearing in the Heath home.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XI

That afternoon at two o'clock, the lounge at the Heath home looked a more fitting place for a social reception than for a coroner's inquest.

The big room with its windows open front and back, showed windows of bright colored flowers over which the thin sash curtains swayed in the breeze, and the sunlight played through their fluttering folds.

On the tables were vases and baskets of flowers arranged with the care and taste that was the resulting routine of Myra's instructions.

The easy chairs and divanets showed their summer past of flowered English chairs, and small light hairs had been brought from the atelier's for the audience that was expected.

Many people came, both from the Park and from the Gardens, for the Heaths had numerous friends, and there was the usual quota of curiosity seekers.

Coroner Osborn sat at a table, his sunny, dark eyes darting about the room, and his small features twisted into a thoughtful frown, as he realized the magnitude of the task before him.

But he was a man of efficient habits, and on the stroke of two he called his first witness.

This was Katie, the parlor maid, who had first discovered Myra's body.

She took the chair indicated, and faced the coroner with composure.

But Osborn had no suspicion that the girl was in any way implicated in the crime, and he merely asked a few definite and direct questions as

Charlie Murray in "Sweet Daddies" AT THE ELITE THEATRE TODAY AND SUNDAY

"I see. And you went straight back to your room?"

"Yes, sir, as soon as I had locked the door after Katie."

"Very well. And Katie, what did you do on your return?"

"I stayed downstairs a moment, or two and then I went to my room."

"What did you stay down for?"

"I went to the icebox, to get something to eat," Katie blushed a little, but spoke candidly.

"Katie's always eatin'," Herrick murmured, with a tolerant smile. "And then you went up to bed?"

"Yes, sir, I did."

"And saw nothing unusual, nor anybody about?"

Katie hesitated for a bit, and then, suddenly jerking up her head, she said, "No, sir, in a loud, clear voice. 'You are sure?' the coroner urged, for he had a feeling she was not telling the truth."

"Sure," she replied, firmly, and Osborn dropped the query, and led her to tell of her finding the dead woman in the studio.

This recital was just as she had told it to him before, and the jurors listened eagerly to the details of the unusual appearance of Mrs. Heath, and the strange presence of the written card and the burning candles.

"The candles were just about to go out?" asked Osborn.

"Almost ready to, sir," agreed Katie. "They burned a bit longer—they were still alive when Herrick came in. But they flickered out in a few moments."

The other servants were questioned, but no further or more definite light was thrown on the mystery of the murder or on the disappearance of Perry Heath.

"Yes, but I couldn't stay a moment. The sight was too much for me. I almost fainted. I've a weak heart. And, too, Herrick bid me take up Miss Moore's tray and to tell her the terrible news. So I had to do that."

"You had to break the news to Miss Moore? That was a hard task. How did she take it?"

"Very hard, sir. She was sobbing when I went into the room, and—well, we went together, sir."

"Yes, doubtless. But, what was Miss Moore crying about—before you had a chance to tell her about what had happened?"

"I don't know, sir," Carter looked surprised. It was quite evident she hadn't thought of this before.

"Never mind, she will speak for herself. You are excused, Miss Moore, will you please answer a few questions?"

Man's effort to overcome the limitations of time and distance finally put electricity to work, and it became his swiftest message bearer.

Half a century ago Bell invented the telephone. It is more than a messenger, for it has been developed to carry man's spoken words for great distances with the swiftness of light. Through its wizardry space is conquered with the speed of thought itself.

A STORY OF A GIRL OF TODAY

A MAN'S KISS OR HIS LOVE?
"I wonder how Mr. Hathaway can be so sure he can get back my mon ey?" I asked Jim when we left the restaurant.
"Why, don't you know, Judy, that Jerry Hathaway's father is the owner of the Beaux Arts, as well as many of the other hotels and restaurants in town?"
"How should I know it, Jim? I've never even seen him in the place!"
"He seldom goes there for he almost broke his father's heart by refusing to go into the hotel and restaurant business. Hathaway senior offered to turn over the whole thing to Jerry and go to Europe, but his son refused to accept the proposition. I met Jerry Hathaway on one of my visits to this town and I found that he had about five thousand dollars, and I had about the same amount, so we went into the advertising business together. We've only been working about four months but we're doing mighty well. I'm awfully glad Jerry has a chance to go to his father for his father can have an opportunity to know that his son has the ability to make good in something beside the restaurant business."
By this time we had finished our coffee.
As we left the restaurant Jimmie boarded a taxi but I insisted upon the elevated.
"It goes very near our apartment," I explained, "and I'd much rather walk the distance to the station and the few blocks after we arrive to an expensive taxi."
When we arrived, I found a bright light shining from the dining room windows. Mamie's apartment was on the first floor. And much to my surprise when I asked the time of Jimmie, he told me it was after one o'clock.
As Jimmie left me at the door, he seemed about to kiss me but I drew back, although even while I did so, even while I was turning from the doorway, I wondered why I did it. I had never shied from one before. I knew the girl who kept her kisses for her husband nowadays was as accessible to find as the great rock of ages.
I think I could have liked to kiss Jimmy Costello. He was so big, and clean and protective. But, even before I left home, I knew that loving a man's kiss and really loving him were two different things. I knew that being thrilled by a kiss did not necessarily mean that one was in love with the man who kissed you.
I went into the house to find Mamie, her arms stretched out on the dining room table, her head down upon them, just shaking with sobs.

DEVICES TEST SAFETY OF FRICTION MATCHES

New York—(P)—A match is a match to most every one, but to the expert there is a wide difference between a safe and dangerous match.
At the Underwriters' Laboratories here, where tests are made of thousands of devices and materials to prevent fires, a miniature pile driver daily pounds away on matches.
The little weight falls on the side of the match head. If the match blazes it is reported unsafe. The requirement is that it must be lighted only by friction at the end of the head.
Another device tests the strength of the match stick to make sure it is strong enough to stand ordinary rough usage. Else striking may break the stick and cause the burning head to fall. It also is determined whether the match will burn its complete length without breaking off and if breaking off, the spark dies immediately.
Matches and mice often appear together in stories of fires. Engineers decided to make a test. Several mice were put in a cage and given nothing

HISTORIANS OF STATE GATHER AT HOMECOMING

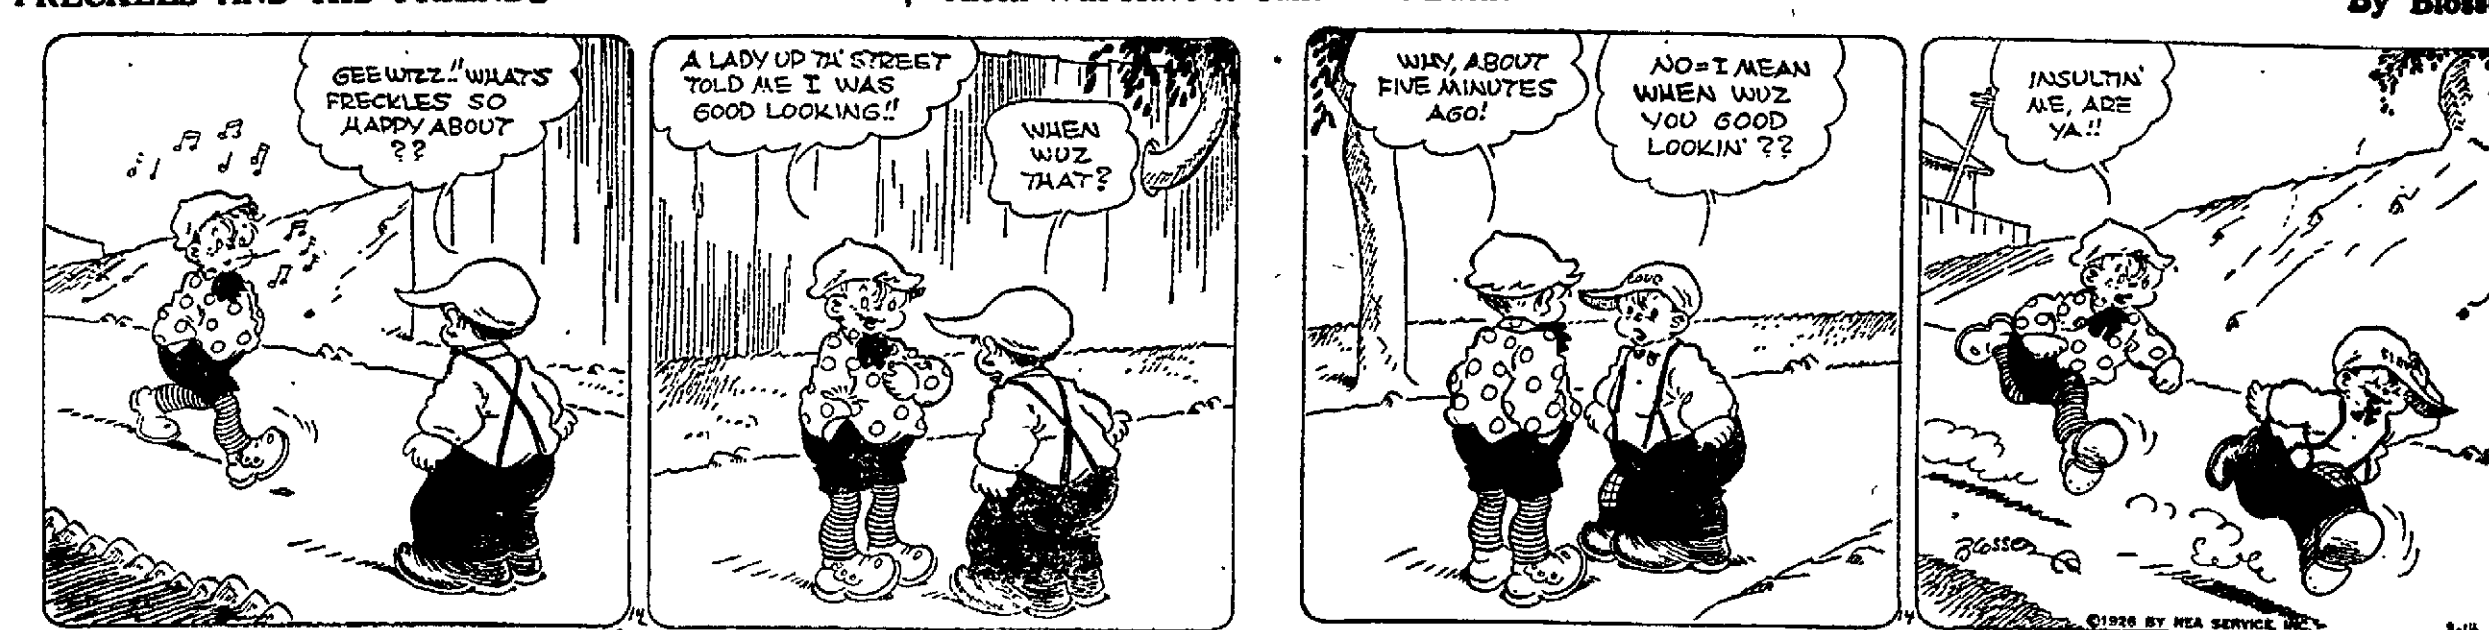

Is First Annual Event of Wisconsin Historical Society

Madison—(P)—Historic Wisconsin Saturday turned its eyes toward Madison as members of the Wisconsin Historical society and historians gathered here for their first annual homecoming.
The event, inaugurated by officers of the society, in an effort to display the wealth and variety of historical material possessed by the state, opened with a tour through the archives of the state library and museum.
On each floor of the building, beginning with the newspaper files in the basement, the visitors were confronted with exhibits of the early life of the state and nation. Newspapers, faded with the passing of many years, told of principal events in the development of Wisconsin.
Manuscripts yellow and fragile were on view with attendants available to explain their history and how they were procured by the library. A display arranged by the magazine section depicted the growth and development of the magazine from the earliest days of the nation.
In the museum the visitors saw the thousands of relics and mementos representative of the stages in development of Wisconsin. Among the articles which evoked interest was the mechanical wooden clock, built by John Muir, famous naturalist and student at the University of Wisconsin.
The clock, a masterpiece of ingenuity, was almost human in its performance when its owner used it here, in his student days. It released the supports of the foot of Muir's bed, making it necessary for him to arise at a certain time, lighted a small lamp, and at intervals presented him with the various books which he wished to study in preparation for his classes.
Arrangements for the homecoming were made by Dr. Joseph Schaefer, superintendent of the State Historical Library. Lectures were scheduled on collections in the library by Charles E. Brown, director of the museum, Prof. F. M. K. Foster of the University of Wisconsin and F. B. Swinelek, associate editor of the Wisconsin Agriculturist magazine, Racine.
John L. T. Lee, Chicago, expert on the history of signers of the Declaration of Independence explained the collection of autographs of the signers of the declaration and of the constitution in the maps and manuscript room.

With Reffke, youthful Appleton hurler, looking better at each appearance, an revamped batting order built to get the runs and team fighting to avenge three previous defeats, Appleton's ball squad of the Fox River Valley circuit will play host to Green Bay here Sunday. The game should be one of the best staged here this season, with an Appleton win putting the Baetzmen a few points behind third place.

Reffke, since a loss to Oshkosh, handed the Noelmen by his mates, has trimmed Kimberly handily twice and is ready to hit the stronger loop square with any kind of support by his mates. He will be opposed by LaCrosse, long known as one of the loop's best, a man beaten Appleton twice, holding them to few hits, another local jinx to be broken.

The remainder of the Appleton lineup will be the same with Baetz, Bent and Priebe patrolling the far confines of the field. Radtke on the initial sack, Tornow at second, Schultz at third, Gosha at short and Ashman at long. The new batting order has Tornow leading off, "Speedy" Bent next in line, Priebe, a consistent batter, third, and Baetz, who has been slugging home runs, fourth. Next comes Schultz, Baetz's rival for "hitting" honors, Ashman, Gosha and Radtke.

The Bay infield is one of the best in the loop. Lannoy and Becker playing consistent ball, while Clark is rated one of the best third-cushion guardians in the loop. Veteran Joe Cusman still plays his best game at short. The outfielders, Kirkoff, Williams and Boehm, complete a star lineup. Boehm, especially, is a wiz being able to roam over large amounts of territory and pull down almost sure hits. He aided Chief Williams beat Appleton here the opening game by marvelous catches of drives labelled for two and three sacks.

Loeffler, the catcher, is a new man to local fans, replacing Peppier Wooley, one of the loop's best, who was injured early in the season. Wooley will be remembered here as the man who picked three Appleton runners off first in the opening game. Loeffler is regarded by Bayites as almost as good in that department and has won permanent home by consistent stickwork.

THREE PIRATES LOST TO SQUAD

Max Carey, Babe Adams, Bigbee, Put Off Team in "Two Bosses"

Pittsburg, Pa. —(P)—Three faces long familiar to Pirate fans will be missing as the Pittsburg National League club takes the field for a double header with Cincinnati Saturday.

Captain Max Carey, Charles (Babe) Adams and Carson Bigbee, three old members of the club in point of service, Friday, passed out of the Pirate picture as a result of dissension among the players and managers over the question of whether Fred Clarke, former manager and vice president of the club, should continue to occupy his place on the player's bench as assistant to Manager Bill McKenchie. The three veterans, two of whom, Carey and Adams, Clark developed, were said to have made a movement to oust Clark from the bench. Carey acting as spokesman declared some of the players felt that "two losses do not get the results that one can."

The managements reply to this was quickly forthcoming. Adams and Bigbee were unconditionally released. Carey was suspended without pending action on waivers which have been asked upon him.

Opinion among baseball followers here seems fairly unanimous that the management's drastic action will hurt but little, if at all, the chances of the Pirates in their quest for their second consecutive National League pennant.

BREWERS TAKE FINAL FROM KERNELS, 3-2

Milwaukee—If local fandom had its way, Fred Shulte would be cited for distinguished and meritorious service and Jesse Orwoll would be awarded the congressional medal of honor for gallantry in action. Around these two gifted Brewers, to single out any one or two, revolved the final conflict of the season here with Louisville Friday. With some spirited and wholehearted cooperation by the rest of the team the Colonels were beaten back, 3 to 2.

EAGLES PLAY MENASHA SQUAD HERE ON SUNDAY

Appleton Eagle baseball team, which hits its real stride in the second round of a doubleheader with the strong Neenah Eagles last Sunday to cap the tilt, will engage the loop-leading Menasha squad at Interlake park Sunday. The showing of the locals last week has encouraged the squad and the boys plan to take the loop heads down a notch on the home field.

Thunder Lake Offers Sport For Real Trout Fisherman

R. A. CLAFLIN

Thunder lake, in Marinette co. at one time as well known, perhaps, as any other body of water of equal size in Wisconsin, still lies in its beautiful emerald setting at the foot of Thunder mountain. The same pristine glory surrounds it as of yore, and its mirrored surface still hides the big Rainbow for which it was once noted. Luckily, before it was entirely fished out, the pot of gold at the foot of the rainbow lured the invaders of this quiet region to other localities.

And now, from this almost forgotten home of the big ones, comes again an authentic tale of a struggle with one of the monsters of the lake. Here a little Yellow Sally fly which lured him to his doom, and yet another fish of similar dimensions that yielded up his life at the call of the man of faith.

These fish were taken by Dr. Busig of Chicago on Sunday, Aug. 8. On the northern shore, a short distance from Jim Plush's place, is a high bank of solid rocks. From this point, in days gone by, we have watched the big Rainbows and Oswego bass as they emerged from sixty feet of clear, spring fed water to disport themselves on the shallows of the ledge. Here the doctor, with a faith borne of a knowledge of former conditions, chose to cast his fly, with the result chronicled above.

Many casts he made with no results, but persistence brought its reward. Came a rush of gold and silver and the Yellow Sally disappeared in a swirl of foam. The terrific tug-

FOUR APPLETON GOLF STARS IN PRO-AMATEUR GO

Walsh - Dickinson, - Rose-Stevens Duos Favored to Finish High in State Contest

Two pairs of Appleton golfers are mentioned prominently by Milwaukee links scribes in connection with the pro-amateur event, the forerunner to the state open tourney which will be held next week at Kenosha. The pro-amateur contest starts at 9:30 Monday morning and is a foursome event, an amateur and pro from any one club being entered as a team.

Local teams in the meet will be Frank Walsh and Ken Dickinson, representing Butte des Morts, and Jimmy Rose and Jack Stevens of River View. Both are picked to be right up in the running for the title with such combinations as the Blakeslee, state open champ, and Dick Kavanagh, five-time state champ, of Kenosha; Francis Gallett and Gardner, Blue Mound, Milwaukee; Paul Johnson and Buster Bock, Sheboygan; Red Leonard and Nel Allis, present state champ, Milwaukee Country club; Bill Robertson and Roy Malschoss, Ozaukee; Guy Martin and Phil Sanborn or Morgan Manchester, Madison.

Walsh finished third in the open last year and is picked to give Blakeslee, present champ, a real battle next week. Dickinson is 1925 state champ, and present northeastern Wisconsin title. While less known, the other Appleton pair also can bat the little white pill around with the best of 'em. Rose is a vet and he finished high this year in the only meet he took part in. Stevens, with Dickinson, is one of the best golfers in Appleton.

KIMBERLY READY FOR OSHKOSH MEN

K-C Ballers Hope to Topple Noelmen from Top Notch; Vanderloop to Hurl

Kimberly—Kimberly fans expect the biggest baseball day of the year Sunday, when the Oshkosh aggregation, the loop leaders, come to Kimberly for a game. If Dame Fortune smiles upon the locals, the Oshkosh team will continue its slide from the top position, and go into a tie with Fond du Lac for that honor. Oshkosh is just one full game ahead of the two out of three stars, having defeated Kimberly a week ago. In this game Oshkosh had but one earned run from Vanderloop. Kimberly moundsman, Vanderloop will top the mound again, and providing the Kimberly team can give him just a little help with the stick things should look mighty interesting. The game will be called at 2:30. With Appleton just one half a game ahead of the locals, a Kimberly win and Appleton loss will set things right again in the Paper city.

DUNCAN LEADS HOMER BOYS IN DOUBLE "A"

Pat Duncan, former National League star, is showing the way to the home run hitters in the American Association. Duncan, playing for the Minneapolis Millers, batted out 20 circuit smashes in the first 100 games. He is two ahead of Cullip of St. Paul.

A few years later Harry Frazer, then owner of the Boston club, began to dispose of his stars. It was Scott's good fortune to be sold to the New York Yankees. He supplanted Roger Peckinpaugh in 1922 as shortstop on that team.

The Yankees won the pennant that season, also the next. Scott's portion was a loser's share in 1922 when the Oshkosh—What probably will be the best boxing show that has been staged at Oshkosh for a long time has just been announced. It will be staged at the big open air arena at the Fair grounds on the night of Aug. 13. The main event will feature Steve Adams of Chicago and Johnny Lundy of Brooklyn, N. Y. They will box 10 rounds at 138 pounds. Johnny Hopfinger, the fast Oshkosh featherweight, will meet Young Morris of Duluth in the eight round semi-windup at 126 pounds. Hopfinger has been going "great guns" lately and now is training at Johnny Coulon's gymnasium in Chicago. Young Shaw, the popular Oshkosh boy, will meet Soldier Berg of Danville, Ill. In another eight round bout while a good fourth-round opener will complete a great card. George Duffy of Marinette will be the third man in the ring.

With the very first cast there followed another strike. Once more the doctor's utmost skill was called into play, but again he triumphed and another deep head beauty lay beside the first. That was all. It was enough for one day. The first fish measured twenty six inches in length, and weighed five and a quarter pounds. The other was but two inches less in length, and weighed practically the same as the first.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y.—(P)—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, who has taken up his training quarters at White Sulphur Springs hotel in preparation for his fight next month with Gene Tunney, will begin intensive training Sunday. Dempsey is expected to begin his road work Saturday and Sunday and will take on his Bill Tate for the first tryout of his sparring partners.

JOINS BADGER GRID STAFF

Earl H. Blaik - Army THOMPSON PH

Madison—Earl H. Blaik, star end of the Army eleven at West Point and members of the Miami University Ohio College champions for three years, has been contracted by Director Little to join the Wisconsin football staff this fall in the capacity of end coach. Blaik will succeed Chuck Carney, who goes to Harvard University in a similar capacity.

"Red," as the new mentor is better known, attended the U. S. Military Academy two years. He played regularly on the baseball and basketball teams, and as right-end was famed for his clever receiving of passes hurled by West Point's great back, French. In the fall of 1919 Blaik was one of Walter Camp's All-American selections at end.

Upon graduating from the Academy in 1920, Blaik was the recipient of the Athletic Association sabbie for being the outstanding athlete in his class. At Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, Red played four years of football, one season on the Fresh eleven and three with the Varsity under George Little, football coach at Miami at that time. Blaik was instrumental in bringing to Miami two successive state college championships, and was named All-Ohio end in 1916. While a cavalry officer on the border, Mr. Blaik was coach of the First Cavalry Division football team.

Fortune Gives Scott Shot At Many Baseball Honors

BY BILLY EVANS

Dame Fortune continues to smile on Shortstop Everett Scott.

Ever since his major league debut the "breaks" have always favored him, artistically as well as financially. When a player can perform in 1307 consecutive games at the difficult position of shortstop and suffer only a few minor injuries, he can feel that he has been born under a lucky star.

That has been the experience of Everett Scott. He started his endurance record as a member of the Boston Red Sox on June 20, 1916 and finished it with New York, May 5, 1925.

Enough of Scott's record as a player; now for the breaks that have come his way financially, and are continuing.

Making his big league debut with Boston, he shared in three world series as a member of that club in 1916-18. In each event he received the winner's cut, as Boston triumphed over Philadelphia, Brooklyn and Chicago.

A few years later Harry Frazer, then owner of the Boston club, began to dispose of his stars. It was Scott's good fortune to be sold to the New York Yankees. He supplanted Roger Peckinpaugh in 1922 as shortstop on that team.

Friday—Y. M. C. A. vs Interlake.

Friday the 13th may not have meant anything in the lives of most Appletonians but it sure did cut its dices in the city Twilight softball loop, for two talented squads, picked as sure losers, surprised the natives and came through with wins over first-division teams to tighten the race somewhat. Over at Jones ball yard the Post-Crescent crew, losers of its last five games and slated for the cellar position in another two weeks, pulled up its belt a notch and scored seven tallies after two men were out in the ninth frame to upset the second-place Y. M. C. A. crew and hold it from a tie for the top with the Legion.

While this was going on the Meyer press rang stepped on the third-place Bankers to the tune of 9-3 at Interlake park, sending that crew way down to fourth.

The win for the Post-Crescents while the Bankers were losing put the Sternard men in third and kept the Triangles a full game behind the Legion. The Meyer Press pulled up to within a half-game of the fifth-place Interlakes.

In the Post-Crescent-Triangle tilt, the Y crew clouted the ball hard in the early frames to run up a seven-run lead in six frames, but they only scored once after that while the P-C men took picks on Bleier's offerings and advantage of Triangle errors and misplays to take the game.

The Triangles got one in the first, then three, then two, rested an inning and added another three and a one. Meanwhile the Sternard crew got three mean tallies, for a 10-3 lead for the Y in the sixth. Here the fireworks started, the P-C crew adding three in the seventh and one in the eighth for a 17-3 score and then when the Y made it 11-7, getting the winning seven tallies in the first of the ninth. In the last of the ninth, the first Y batter got on but only got as far as third.

Fielding errors were neat catches by Eggert and Sternard of the winners, and Zussman of the losers. A double play in which the runner was caught at first while another bit the dust at third also featured the P-C play. The second runner went from second to third on the out and started a peg from first cut him off and as he shot back to third another catcher to third, got him off the sack. The Triangles got the same number of hits as the winners, 16, but their errors came in handy in the last frame.

Courtesy of the losers got four hits and a walk, with Baehall and Bleier getting three each. Bergman lead the winners with three hits while Hartzell, Schroeder, LaRose, Sternard and Bender each got two.

GETS 13 STRIKEOUTS

In the game at Interlake park, the Bankers blew up badly while the Pressmen played a steady game to win. The result was never in doubt after the first few frames when the Meyer crew took a big lead after having a 2-2 tie until the fourth. Wilson and La Mere were hitting stars for the winners with McKenzle featuring the Bankers attack. Colvin, winning hurler, allowed but few hits and set the loop strikeout record, one liable to stand a long time and a remarkable record in any softball play. He fanned 12 batters getting every batter but Gerhart, rightfielder, at least once and three men twice.

Lineups:
Bankers — Voecks, 1st; McKenzle, lf; King, 3b; Wisman, p; Stoebauer, cf; Sauer, c; Welch, 1st; Potter, 2b; Toek, lf; Gerhart, rf.

JOEY SANGOR BOXES DRAW WITH CHAMPION

Chicago—(P)—Charley (Phil) Rosenberg, world's bantam champion and Joey Sangor, Milwaukee, boxed a draw here Friday night in ten rounds. Fido LaBarbe, Los Angeles, flyweight champion was awarded a referee's decision over Emil Paluso, Salt Lake, in ten rounds. Leo Wax, welterweight champion of Australia, lost on a technical knockout to Clyde Hull of Texas. Spug Meyers, Pocatello, Idaho, and Russell LeRoy, Fargo, N. D., boxed a draw in ten rounds.

Hornsby, With Injuries All Healed, Climbing Back Into Battle For N. L. Slug Lead

Cards Manager Reaches 12th Place as Team Makes Desperate Fight for Pennant

Chicago —(P)—Slowly but surely the old master of the National League sluggers, Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Cardinals, is climbing to the top of the list. For the past six years Hornsby has finished in first place among National League batters, but injuries this year have kept down his batting average. Back in the game now, in full vigor, he has reached twelfth place.

The Cincinnati catcher, Bubbles Hargrave, who has been leading the Nationals in hitting for some time, stepped farther in front this week, in the official figures released Saturday, including games of last Wednesday. In eight games he gathered 12 hits, and three of them over the fence. His team-mate, the Cuban mound star, Adolfo Luque, might be called the real league leader this week, if pitchers strove for batting honors, for Luque is now batting .404.

Cuyler, long the leading base stealer of the Nationals, went back to his specialty this week, gathering two more, but he dropped out of the leading ten hitters. He now has 24 stolen bases, four ahead of Frankie Friesch of the Giants. He scored three runs this week to total 80, the highest in the league, but Blades of St. Louis is only one behind.

Hack Wilson of the Chicago Cubs and Jim Bottomley of St. Louis rested from their home run race this week, their totals remaining stationary at 15 apiece.

Carl Mays of the Reds had the best luck of the National League pitchers with long winning streaks, this week, totaling two victories to tie with Pete Donohue of the Reds and Lee Meadows of Pittsburgh at 15 victories. Meadows, though, has lost but four games.

Leading National League hitters: Hargrave, Cincinnati, .391; Stephenson, Chicago, .363; Bressler, Cincinnati, .352; Herman, Brooklyn, .349; Traynor, Pittsburgh, .348; E. Smith, Pittsburgh, .348; Grantham, Pittsburgh, .338; L. Bell, St. Louis, .338; Christensen, Cincinnati, .333; Jackson, New York, .332.

While Babe Ruth is slugging along toward his 1921 home run record, six behind his mark of that year on Aug. 11, George Burns of Cleveland is headed toward a new major league mark in two baggers. Three years ago Burns' boss, Tiggs Speaker set a mark of 59 two baggers for a season, the same as Ruth's 1921 record in homers. Burns now has 53, four this week, in the official averages issued today, including Wednesday's games. Ruth's home run total Aug. 11 was 37.

The league this week lost its only 400 hitter, Fothergill of Detroit, who dropped five points, in this week's official figures, still leads the league. Ruth and his teammate Gehrig both crossed the hundred run mark this week, Ruth with 107 and Gehrig with 104. Ruth's four home runs this week pushed his totals bases to an average of two bases for each hit. Ken Williams of St. Louis and Simmons of Philadelphia are tied for second place home run honors at sixteen.

E. Rice of Washington, and Johnny Mostil of Chicago, first and second in the base stealing contest, each got one this week. Rice has 18 and Mostil 16. Rice displaced Mostil this week among the first ten hitters of the circuit.

George Uhle of Cleveland the workhorse of the American League pitchers, now leads with 13 victories, his rival Pennock having had luck this week. Uhle and Braxton, of New York, who leads the pitchers' percentages, each have played in 27 games, but Uhle has pitched five times as many innings as the Yankee relief tosser, who is credited with six victories and one loss.

The Yankees regained their .300 hitting percentage as a team this week. Ruth alone gaining seven points in his battling figures. Manush of Detroit was the week's star at bat, going from sixth place to second, displacing George Burns of Cleveland.

Leading American League hitters: Fothergill, Detroit, .395; Manush, Detroit, .378; Ruth, New York, .374; Gohl, Washington, .371; Burns, Cleveland, .366; Falk, Chicago, .361; Meusel, New York, .361; Hellmann, Detroit, .354; E. Collins, Chicago, .348; E. Rice, Washington, .346.

With the averages generally slipping in the American Association, the current feature of the batting is the way the leading sluggers are bunched, beneath a .398 percentage.

A comparatively wide gap separates Lebourveau of Toledo from the nearest of his rival for the league lead, yet, as the averages go, the difference between the Mudhen outfielder's percentage and that of Richbourg of Milwaukee, bringing up the rear of the running ten hitters, is only forty-four points.

There were, however, some major changes in the leading ten during the last week, as shown by official figures released today and including games of Wednesday. Veatch of Toledo stepped into second place and DeVormer of Louisville climbed to third on fourteen hits, including two outside the park. Russell of Indianapolis was a newcomer among the elect, passing veterans to clinch fifth place with a rating of .369.

Earl Smith of Minneapolis got two bases off half his twelve hits to run his doubles total to thirty-eight. Haas of St. Paul and Pittenger of the Colts are trailing with, respectively, 33 and 31 two-baggers.

Business wasn't so good in the home run field. Pat Duncan of Milwaukee still leads, but his efforts of the week added but one to his total of 20 homers.

Richbourg added to his collection of stolen bases for a new total of 29, three ahead of Lebour

Good Luck—Always On Hand!

Some people seem to have better luck than others. They "run into" more opportunities. They find more chances to "pick up" things they want. They manage to save money here and there "just by luck."

The fact that they use good judgment in their spending, that they are wide-awake buyers, that they make opportunities come their way—Isn't always appreciated.

But good management—rather than good luck—is the secret of most good fortune.

And good management, in filling many of the needs of everyday life, depends largely on keeping in touch with the time and money saving offers in the A-B-C Classified Section.

There are ads there that will interest you—and you can find them as easily as looking up a number in a telephone book.

CO-EDS AT U. W. DRESS ONLY IN LATEST STYLES

Eastern Womens Colleges
Set Styles for Wisconsin
Girls, Buyers State

Madison—(P)—Styles adopted and worn by co-eds at the University of Wisconsin are "up to the last minute" say managers and buyers in stores catering to students.

The styles being shown at New York now, one buyer said, may be radically different from what the co-ed will buy here in six weeks. Following the "Will O' the Wisp" fancy of the university girl in her choice of clothing is the chief problem at this time, when styles are being tried out, the buyer said, "are set at the large eastern womens colleges like Vassar, Wellesley, and Smith. Through a reporting service we receive daily tips on what the women in those colleges are wearing. Often we get night letters for several consecutive days telling us what to buy for student trade."

"As soon as the eastern colleges open, style reporters are stationed on the campuses to see what the fashionable girl from New York has picked out from the preliminary offerings of the exclusive Fifth Avenue stores. Other reporters attend the fashionable parties, and the military balls given at West Point and Annapolis so that the Wisconsin co-ed may have the very latest in evening gowns."

"Wisconsin, of all the co-educational institutions in the middle west and west, is the most particular in the dress and fashions adopted by her co-eds. This means we are constantly on our toes to sense the rapid changes in the desires of university women in the matter of clothing."

"With school opening only a few weeks away, we do now know what will be worn this year. We have not laid in our stock and will depend on last minute telegraphic reports before buying."

"Perhaps they will wear tailored suits, and on the other hand they may take to woolen dresses or sport wear. They are fleeting things—these university styles, changing almost overnight at times. The frock worn by Helen Willis may have some effect on fashions here, or perhaps the two piece frock adopted by Suzanne Lenglen may be the vogue."

"The University of Wisconsin has several times in years past set a new style that later was copied by eastern colleges. One was the mackinaw garment affected by women several years ago."

"With every tourist and shop girl wearing knickers, it is practically certain the co-ed will not wear them this year."

"Who is the arbiter for styles to be worn by Wisconsin men," the buyer was asked. "Whatever the men at Princeton wear will be worn here," he replied. "If Princeton says it will be narrow trousers, it will be narrow trousers, and vice versa."

Street, antique dealers have located near the art auction houses.

Within short walking distance of each other are two of the largest art galleries auction establishments in the country—the American and the Anderson—where many foreign and domestic collections are sold each season.

In addition to the numerous American shops in the vicinity are the branches of French, English, Spanish and Italian houses such as Cattadori, Seidetz and Van Baarn. New York's rapid progress as an art capital attracted them to this country.

There is not the hustle and confusion in this market, however. A walk through the houses is more like a visit to the museums. But the "transactions" run into millions of dollars annually.

STATE FUNDS CAN BE SPENT FOR BEER VOTE

Madison—(P)—The expenditure of state funds for the proposed beer referendum in Wisconsin would be legal, says the reply to the complaint against the referendum pending in the supreme court.

The reply, prepared by Attorney General Herman L. Ekern and his deputy, C. A. Erikson, asks that the complaint of S. A. Fulton, an official of the Anti-Saloon League, seeking to prevent the referendum being held, be dismissed. The case is set for argument on Sept. 18.

The cost of the referendum will not exceed $15, the defendants allege. The defendants are Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman, State Treasurer Solomon Levitan, and the state printing board.

"Defendants deny," says the reply, "that their acts, as set forth in said complaint, will be unlawful, and further deny that the expenditure of state funds as set forth in the complaint will be illegal."

The referendum was ordered by a legislative resolution, without the enactment of a law. An opinion of the attorney general, attached to the reply as an exhibit, states a referendum requires a law enacted by the legislature and signed by the governor, but also states that the question "is not entirely free from doubt."

DODGE BROTHERS DE LUXE SEDAN

People select motor cars by different standards.

Some desire luxury and ostentation. Others, utility and economy alone.

Dodge Brothers De Luxe Sedan strikes a fine and distinguished balance—both in appearance and price—between these two extremes.

It provides unusual comfort and roominess; a refinement of line and design in which the owner takes deep pride; and everywhere in the world the name it bears is associated with the highest standards of integrity and workmanship.

With reasonable care, the De Luxe Sedan serves its owners for years, frequently delivers mileage running well into six figures, and on the resale market brings prices that strikingly reflect the solid value Dodge Brothers have built into it.
